The Cabinet Choices First Chore for Nixon

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, his narrow presidential triumph cemented by late election returns, chose the privacy of a Florida retreat today to start forming the new Republican administration he hopes will "bring the American people together."

Faced with the most pressing tasks of determining his immediate role in Vietnam peace efforts and picking the men who will guide the nation's destiny for the next four years, Nixon flew from New York to Key Biscayne, Fla., for what was billed as a few days rest.

Sentimental Visit

On the way he stopped off for a sentimental visit in Washington with his hospitalized former chief, Dwight D. Eisenhower.

As the tide of more than 70 million votes continued to flow in from outlying precincts, mainly in the West, Nixon actually trailed by 29,730,272 to 29,726,409 vote behind Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey in the 70-million-plus popular vote.

But his electoral vote total, securely past the needed total of 270 after cliff-hanger victories in Illinois, Ohio and California, appeared headed for 302 when late returns gave him the lead in Missouri where more than 100,000 absentee ballots will be decisive.

Absentee votes were also expected to decide Maryland where Humphrey was leading.

President Johnson returned to the capital from Texas for the 75-day homestretch of his presidency, pledging to Nixon "everything in my power to make your burdens lighter" during the transition period.

Earlier in San Antonio, the Texas White House said that, at Nixon's request, a government aircraft had been made available to him. He already has Secret Service protection.

Johnson also offered Nixon government office space in Washington, but the winner said he would continue to work out of his New York offices in the weeks ahead.

Selection of a Cabinet, a White House staff and such other top aides as a budget director are among Nixon's first chores.

Detroit radio station WJR said Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who made a brief bid last winter for the GOP presidential nomination, probably will be Nixon's secretary of commerce.

Leaders of new Congress pledge qualified support to President-elect Nixon. This and a look at the New York State results on Page 3.

The station also forecast that Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger of Los Angeles County "will become the next attorney general," and that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York would be named "either as secretary of state or secretary of defense —most likely the latter."

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, meanwhile suggested that Nixon name "a shadow cabinet to work with the present Cabinet to smooth the transition."

And the Montana Democrat, who will preside over a reduced majority numbering 58 of the 100 senators, said he would support Nixon "when he is right" adding "when we disagree, we'll oppose not just for the sake of opposition but will try to offer constructive alternatives."

One Senate race remained undecided, the Oregon contest in which Republican Robert Packwood was leading four-term veteran Sen. Wayne Morse. If Packwood's lead holds up, Republicans will have made a net gain of five senators from their total in the outgoing 90th Congress.

In the House, the GOP gain was even smaller, a net of four in an election that saw only nine incumbents defeated, four in reapportioned districts where they were thrown in with other incumbents.

The new House will have 243 Democrats and 192 Republicans. But conservative southern Democrats could team with Republicans on many issues in both houses to give Nixon the equivalent of a slim working majority.

While Nixon prepared to assume governmental authority, the vice president-elect, Gov. Spiro T. Agnew, was preparing to shed his duties as Maryland's chief executive, probably giving way to a Democrat.

This would give the Democrats 20 governorships to 30 for the GOP.

The GOP currently holds 31—its highest total in 15 years—after making a net gain of five. With election of Republican Richard Ogilvie as governor of Illinois, the GOP increased its hold on the big states to six of seven, with only Texas, where Democrat Preston Smith won, outside Republican control.

As is traditional, the day following the election was a day for post mortems. The two presidential losers, former Alabama Gov. George C .Wallace and Vice President Humphrey, conceded and wished Nixon well.

George Proclaims Success

Wallace proclaimed his candidacy a success, even though he carried only five states with 45 electoral votes while polling more than nine million votes, 13 per cent of the total.

"We turned the other two parties in different directions," he said in Montgomery. He said he plans to "sit around the courthouse and the Confederate monument in Clayton," his home town, and then "practice law in Alabama."

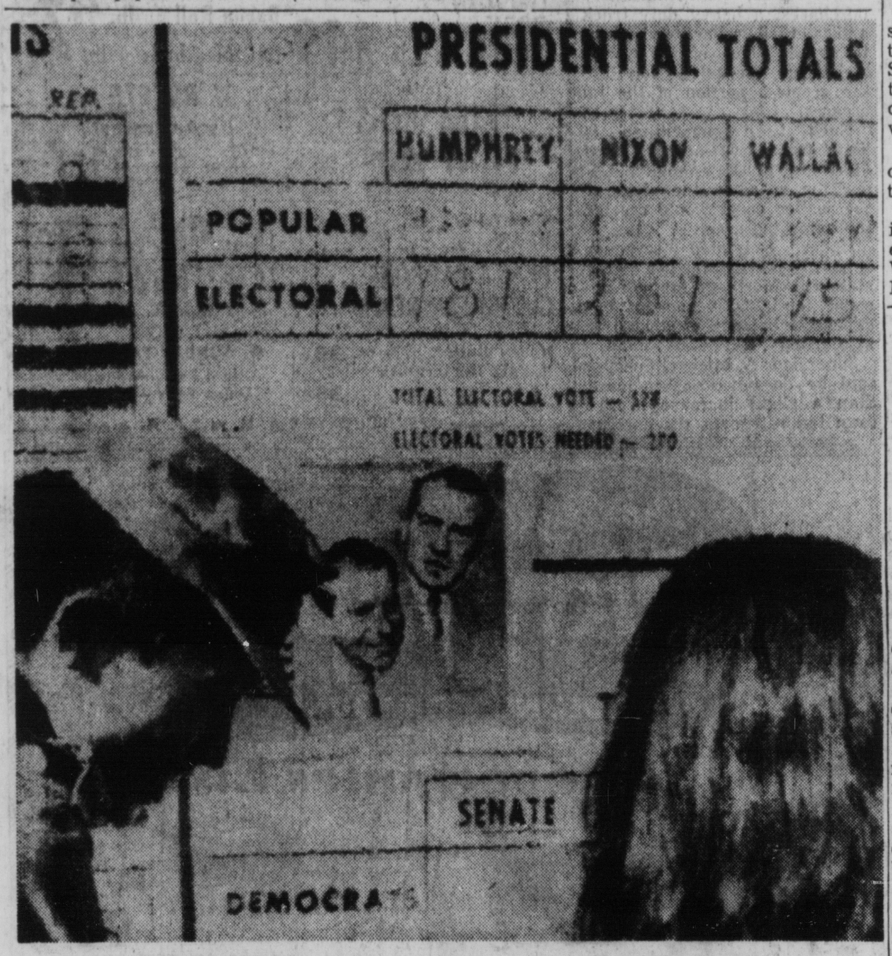

He said he has no political plans for the future, on the state or national level. But at the Oklahoma City, Okla., offices of his American Independent Party, telephones were being answered with "Wallace in '72, Hello."

Humphrey, who fought back to make close what had appeared at first to be a hopeless contest, went to his lakeside home in Waverly, Minn.

In January, he will leave government service for the first time since he was elected mayor if Minneapolis in 1945. He said during the campaign that, if he lost, he would probably lecture at universities and travel some.

County Sales Tax Looms Before End of the Year

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

County administrative machinery is moving toward the adoption of a county sales tax this year with the resolution expected to be ready for presentation to the County Legislature at the November meeting next Thursday, The Freeman learned today.

An executive session on preparation of the resolution and a discussion on whether it should be 2 or 3 per cent has been scheduled for tonight.

It was reported late Wednesday that the Legislature's Tax Base Study Committee has thrown the sales tax proposal in the county legislative hopper and the resolution is under study in the county attorney's office.

A spokesman for the Tax Base Study Committee said today he expects the need for additional county funds next year will weigh heavy on the heads of the county legislators, and he predicted that the measure would be approved overwhelmingly.

County Legislature Chairman Peter J. Savago today confirmed that an executive session is scheduled to discuss the sales tax resolution. He noted that under the formula a 2 per cent tax could raise as much as $4.5 million and 3 per cent, $7 million. County officials agree that the receipts should be used for the reduction of the tax on real property.

If the sales tax is adopted next Thursday, collections would start on March 1 and receipts from the state would begin to come into the county treasury in July or early in August. The second quarter of the tax year ends June 30.

Under the plan, the Kingston City sales tax of 2 per cent would be abandoned. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan has indicated this in a message to the County Legislature some time ago.

The state currently has a 2 per cent sales tax, and if the county adopts the levy, the state will collect 4 per cent on the same items that are currently being taxed. The county's share would be distributed by the state after each quarter.

The county sales tax would be adopted by local law.

The proposal for a county-wide sales tax has been under study for nearly a year by the Tax Base Study Committee, headed by Legislator Clarence Raichle, R-Kingston.

Supporters of the proposal have cited the great need for additional funds to meet the expenses of capital projects. The county has under consideration the construction of a new jail, county airport, a new county infirmary, and establishment of a tax mapping program including reassessment of all properties in Ulster County. Chairman Savago said that all of these expenses could be met from the receipts of a county-wide sales tax.

The Tax Base Study Committee in mid-April filed a majority report with the County Legislature recommending the adoption of a 2 per cent county sales tax. The committee noted that the receipts anticipated to reach as much as $4½ million per year, would be substantial when compared to the general tax levy of the current county budget totaling $7,685,000, all charged against real estate.

The committee noted the capital projects include badly needed facilities. In addition to the jail and infirmary, the committee said continued growth and expansion of the Community College will require additional funds. The college will have a projected enrollment of 2,500 students by 1974. The report noted the youth of the county are its greatest asset and the young people of the county are entitled to a high quality of education close at home.

The committee listed the county airport proposal as a favorable project and noted that it is in the preliminary planning stage. The committee noted that a county airport will enable the area to attract new industries with their accompanying payrolls and needed tax dollars.

The Tax Base Study Committee also reported that the general operating costs of county government will continue to rise because of anticipated increases in salaries, social services, highway improvements and other essential services.

Dropping the Kingston city sales tax will be a matter for the common council to decide. In July, seven aldermen reportedly said they were in favor of dropping the city tax levy in favor of a county-wide sales tax. Many of these same aldermen have been returned to office in Tuesday's election, and are expected to retain this opinion when a vote on the matter is scheduled.

Chairman Savago said that public acceptance of a county sales tax will be assured when the citizens of Ulster County see the results and advantages of the capital projects proposed. If the projects on the planning board become a reality, Ulster County will record its greatest progress in providing public services in its long history, Savago said.

Nixon Observers Likely to Paris

By LOREN JENKINS

PARIS (UPI) — Diplomatic sources close to the Paris Vietnam Talks said today President-elect Richard M. Nixon is expected to send observers here to familiarize himself with the negotiations and assure an orderly changeover in January.

There still was no indication the South Vietnam government would drop its opposition to sitting down with the Viet Cong in Paris although diplomatic quarters said Saigon regards the Nixon election as a major point in favor of its policies.

Officially, the U.S. team named by President Johnson and headed by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman is continuing the negotiating and is expected to do so at least until the presidential inauguration. Nixon, meantime, wants his own team familiar with the proceedings.

Others May Go to Saigon

There also was speculation Nixon might send emissaries to Saigon. He would be expected to be briefed in Washington on developments there. In the meantime it was believed Nixon would want to insert some of his own ideas into the talks.

A Viet Cong rocket hit in a Saigon hamlet killing three persons. Story Page 38.

There was much speculation among both the North Vietnamese delegations and the National Liberation Front (Viet Cong) about Nixon's eventual formula and tactics for settling the war, and few diplomats now expected any real meaningful talks until after Nixon takes office Jan. 20.

It was recalled that during his campaign Nixon said Vietnam negotiations "must include as many as possible of the powers and interests involved" and as the South Vietnamese become stronger "American troops can and should be phased out.'

Attention also centered on a Nixon statement when he was asked how the war in Vietnam could be brought to a conclusion and he used the Korean war as a precedent:

"We got in and had this messy war (Korea) on our hands. Eisenhower let word get out diplomatically to the Chinese and North Koreans that he would not tolerate this continual ground war of attrition, and within a matter of months they negotiated . . . as far as negotiations are concerned (in Vietnam) we will be militarily strong and diplomatically strong."

Much Uncertainty

Although there was much uncertainty in Paris, diplomatic sources said the South Vietnamese may seek to delay any meaningful talks here until they determine if Nixon may be more agreeable to their ideas than Johnson.

The sources also said there was some personal concern among the diplomatic team headed by Harriman and Ambassador Cyrus R. Vance.

C-H Defers Tivoli Plans, Joins in Roseton Project

By LYNN MULVANEY

Plans for the building of a nuclear power plant at Tivoli have been deferred to the 1980's, Central Hudson Gas and Electric Company announced today.

Instead, a $170 million electric generating plant will be built at Roseton, a few miles north of Newburgh on the site of the old Jova Brick works.

Three in Project

The Roseton project is to be undertaken by three of the state's public utilities — Central Hudson Gas and Electric, Con Edison and Niagara Mohawk Power Corporation.

It is anticipated that the new electric project will take care of the needs of the three companies "for sometime to come," according to a Central Hudson spokesman.

It was back in 1960 that Central Hudson announced plans to acquire the 768-acre property including Cruger's Island between Tivoli and Barrytown for the nuclear plant.

Plans for its construction were still ripe last year.

In the interim, the Tivoli nuclear plant and others have been under criticism at various times by a number of persons and organizations concerned that the northeast is imperiled by nuclear plant operations.

Sen. Edmund Muskie of Maine has been an outspoken critic. So has Larry Bogart, director of the Anti-Pollution League and Dr. Edward Teller, famed nuclear physicist.

The new electric plant at Roseton is to be located on the west shore of the Hudson River adjacent to the present Danskammer Point plant of Central Hudson and will be operated by Central Hudson for all three companies.

It will contain two 600,00 kilowatt generating units, the first of which is scheduled for operation late in 1972. The second unit is to go "on the line" in the spring of 1973.

Plans are being made to install, at the oil-fired plant, the most modern system now available for the removal of sulphur and fly ash from stack gases.

The design and operation of the plant will meet standards established by the State Health Department, Conservation Department, the Hudson River Valley Commission and other government agencies.

Under the agreement reached among the three utilities, Central Hudson will have an initial interest of 20 per cent and Con Edison of New York City and Niagara Mohawk of Syracuse, each will have a 40 per cent interest. The companies will share electric capacity in the same proportion.

Also Has Option

After eight years, Central Hudson will have aquired 50 per cent interest and the other two companies, 25 per cent. Also under the agreement Central Hudson has options to acquire additional interest in the plant.

When completed, it is anticipated that the new Roseton development will enhance the appearance of the former brick works property and contribute substantially to the balanced development of the greater Newburgh area. The architectural treatment of the plant will receive special consideration and the site will be landscaped in a manner compatible with its Hudson River setting.

ELECTION BET—It's a cold fact that when Nixon iced his victory it left Joe Nutting of Las Vegas on the heavy end of an election bet with Stan Baldwin, right. To pay off, Nutting pushed a 200-pound refrigerator the length of the 3.5 mile Las Vegas Strip, from the Tropicana Hotel to the Sahara, in just over an hour, while Baldwin followed in golf cart sipping champagne poured at Nutting's expense by pretty bartender Danska Thomas. Saugerties Unveils Its $320,000 Budget

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

A $320,516 tentative budget for 1969 was unveiled Wednesday night at a public hearing held in Saugerties Town Hall. Approximately 25 attended with the major question asked about the $500 salary increase for the four town councilmen.

Although the new budget shows an increase of $34,841 above the current budget of $285,675, no taxes will have to be levied for the general cost of town government because of correspondingly higher estimated revenues. The general fund appropriation in the new budget totals $159,107 as compared with the current budget $155,815. This is an increase of $3,292 over the current budget.

However, estimated revenues for next year total $159,133.92, more than enough to cover the general fund appropriation.

The Town Highway Department appropriations for 1969 show a figure of $161,409, an increase of $31,548 over the current budget of $129,861. General highway will total $116,669, machinery $23,560 and snow removal and miscellaneous $21,180.

Estimated revenues for highway will total $35,861, leaving $125,548 to be raised by taxation. This will reflect in an increase in the highway portion of the town tax rate. In the current budget $88,500 was raised by taxation for highway purposes. The increase in the amount to be raised for highway purposes totals $37,048.

Highway Department hourly wage raises, new machinery purchases, a heavy duty truck and a road roller, and plans to rebuild some of the town's highways accounted for the the greatest portion of the increases.

Each town councilman is listed for a $500 increase from $1,500 to $2,000 annually. Under the schedule the clerk of the justice court would receive the same increase.

Under estimated revenues $97,283.92 is listed for per capita state aid. Mortgage tax will account for $18,000 and an unexpended balance of $20,000 is also listed .

Supervisor A. Michael Schovel said he does not expect more than a slight increase in the town tax rate over the current figure of $88.61 based on $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The new budget lists $10,070 for elections, a decrease of $6,530.

Under public safety which includes town police, dog wardens and building inspector, the total appropirations in the 1969 tentative budget lists $16,000, an increase of $3,000 over the current budget.

Social services will have an increase in the new budget of $2,900 over the current budget figure of $3,800. The total appropriation including burials ($300) is listed as $7,000.

Recreation in the new budget shows an increase of $650. Appropriations for parks and playgrounds totals $11,000 and youth recreation for personal services, $4,000.

Two Men, Pet Dog Are Victims As Toxic Fumes Sweep Cabin

WESTBROOKVILLE — State Police Bureau of Criminal Investigation officers today endeavored to identify the body of one of two men who died with their pet Boxer dog in a toxic gas-filled isolated cabin in the Wurtsboro mountains off Route 209 near the Sullivan County community of Westbrookville.

Ferndale BCI identified one victim found in the A-shaped frame cabin Wednesday afternoon as Louis Weber, 47, of Corona, L. I.

Discovery of the bodies was made by Adolph Jarvis, 51, a Wurtsboro electrician, and Harry Jacobs, 74, of Rock Hill, who went to the cabin in response to a telephone call from the wife of Weber.

Dental charts and fingerprints were being checked in Albany as authorities sought to establish the identity of the second man whose life was snuffed out by the gases.

Sullivan County Coroner Sidney P. Schiff of Liberty said the men had been dead at least 24 hours before they were found. Weber was sprawled across a cot on the first floor of the cabin, and the body of the unidentified man lay across a cot in the loft of the one room structure.

Jarvis told investigators that he had seen the men Sunday when he went to the cabin to discuss an electrical contract.

An improvised heater made from a five-gallon pail in which charcoal had been burned produced toxic gases that took the lives of the two men. The gas stove burners were turned off, although several kettles showed signs of recent use.

Authorities said no windows were open in the cabin and the oxygen had been consumed by the gas accumulation. Two rifles were found in the building, and expended shells were found outside indicating the men had been hunting or target practicing last weekend.

The body of the Boxer dog was found near a food dish inside the cabin's only door.

Major John M. Mohanan, commander of Troop F. Middletown, directed the preliminary investigation with Capt. Philip G. Emden and S enior BCI Investigators Michael Lisman and Norman Buck.

County Court: Two Guilty Pleas

Two cases on the criminal calendar were settled with guilty pleas and sentencing in County Court Wednesday before Judge Raymond J. Mino.

George T. Mayes, 33 of Albany, through his attorney Louis Klein, entered a plea of guilty to unlawful entry at Blue Mountain Riding Center in August 1965. He waived the waiting period and was sentenced to six months in the county jail with credit for time served.

Klein made a plea for his client, indicating to the court that Mayes had been offered a job in New Jersey when he is released. He also noted that the defendant had a wife and family to support.

Assistant District Attorney Robert MacKinnon, in rebuttal said that Mayes' record did not warrant clemency and asked for the maximum penalty.

Mayes was arrested in connection with the theft of two typewriters and two cameras from William Rohde at Blue Mountain Riding Center in the Town of Saugerties. Mayes was employed there as a cook.

State police reported Mayes was arrested in August 1965 in Catskill with the loot in his car. At that time he was charged with grand larceny, second degree. Later he was indicted by the grand jury for third degree burglary. He was subsequently released on $500 bail and left the jurisdiction of the county forfeiting his bail.

Donald I. Hasbrouck, 33 of Ellenville, through his attorney Wendell Harp, entered a plea of guilty to unauthorized use of a vehicle in connection with the theft of a car in Ellenville on April 30. He also waived the waiting period prior to sentencing and Judge Mino sentenced him to 190 days in the county jail with credit for time served. The defendant had already served this time and was released from the custody of the sheriff later in the afternoon.

Assistant District Attorney Albert Lonstein prosecuted the case for the DA's office.

Dutchess Man Killed by Car

A 56-year-old Dutchess county man was killed at 6:45 p.m. Wednesday when he was hit by a car as he was walking along Route 82 in the Town of Stanford.

Chief Investigator Charles Borchers of the sheriff s office, said William Lewis, of Stanfordville, was pronounced dead at the scene of the mishap by Dr. Michael Bedeen of Millerton, an assistant medical examiner.

Lewis died of a fracture of the spine, authorities said and the death was ruled accidental pending a formal inquest to be held at a later date before Dutchess County Medical Examiner Dr. Chester H. Golding of Wappingers Falls. The body was removed to a Pine Plains funeral home.

Borchers reported the 1963 car involved in the fatality was operated by Gary I. Haynes, 20, of Prospect Hill, Pine Plains, who told investigators from the sheriff's office the man was walking from one side of the road to the other and stepped into the path of the vehicle not far from the victim's home.

GOV. ROCKEFELLER | WILLIAM SCRANTON | C. DOUGLAS DILLON | ROBERT FINCH

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, former Pennsylvania Gov. William Scranton, former Treasury Secretary C. Douglas Dillon and Lt. Gov. Robert Finch are rated as good prospects for membership in the Nixon Cabinet. Scranton, who carried out a foreign policy mission for Nixon has been mentioned as a possible secretary of state. Rockefeller has been the front runner in talk about the new defense secretary. Other prospects include Maurice Stans, budget director in the Eisenhower administration; Charles Rhyne, a Nixon campaign leader and Michigan's Gov. George Romney. (UPI TELEPHOTOS).

New Congress on Nixon— Qualified Help Pledged

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Leaders of the Democratic 91st Congress pledged qualified support to Republican President-elect Richard M. Nixon today. One of his key legislative proposals was already in trouble.

"We don't intend to hinder him in any way," Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., the Senate majority leader. "We'll be glad to cooperate with him when he is right, and when he is wrong we will oppose him in a constructive fashion."

House Speaker John W. McCormack sent Nixon his congratulations "with assurances of cooperation in the best interest of our people and the national interest." McCormack told United Press International Democrats always support a Republican president "when in agreement with him."

The statements fell short of commitment that would bridge party lines and left the way open for what most observers saw as an inevitable deterioriation of relations between the White House and Congress.

Dirksen Warning

Meantime, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., the Senate minority leader who will help direct Nixon forces in the new Congress, hoisted a go-slow sign against a principal Nixon project.

Nixon outlined repeatedly during his election campaign, a plan to give special tax breaks to business firms undertaking job training, housing and other rebuilding chores in the ghetto. Nixon plugged for a decentralization of government and proposed the tax credits as a substitute for the direct flow of federal funds into such programs as the Job Corps, which he said have not worked.

"There are drawbacks to these (tax credits)," Dirksen said, despite his authorship of a GOP platform which included a tax credit plank.

Nixon also has pledged to cut spending so the 10 per cent surtax imposed in June can be allowed to expire on schedule on July 1. Dirksen questioned whether this can be done.

"The commitments have already been made," he said. "Nixon will be inheriting substantial deficit problems."

In his victory statement Wednesday Nixon said his first priority task as president would be to try to bring the country together.

Tough Job

That also may be his toughest job. He was elected, a minority president, with 43 per cent of the vote. And he became the first president since 1876 to win his first term without carrying his party into control of Congress.

The voters Tuesday, while narrowly electing a Republican president, sent back a virtually undiminished majority of Democrats to the House and reduced a top heavy Democratic majority in the Senate by only five seats.

The Elections and N.Y.— Questions, Also Answers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Almost as many questions were brought up as were answered by Tuesday's election, as elections are prone to do.

Observers wondered, for instance, whether Gov. Rockefeller would become a part of President-elect Richard M. Nixon's cabinet.

The fact that Democratic candidate Hubert H. Humphrey carried New York State's 43 electoral votes was not expected to hinder Rockefeller's chances — particularly in view of the fact that Rockefeller, in spite of his campaign for the nomination against Nixon earlier in the year, had taken personal charge of the Nixon campaign effort here and had worked hard for the Republican ticket.

Traditionals Held Up

Nixon himself said at an Albany rally that no one had "worked harder" for the national ticket than Rockefeller.

"What can you say?" a Rockefeller aide commented Wednesday when asked if Rockefeller had a comment on the Humphrey win here. "The traditional Democratic areas held up and Nixon received little Negro support."

But if Republicans had a rough time on the national level in New York, they fared well in state contests.

In the race for the Senate, incumbent Jacob K. Javits won handily over Democrat Paul O'Dwyer, a peace candidate, and Conservative James L. Buckley, the brother of columnist William F. Buckley.

The GOP leadership in the State Assembly was faced with the pleasant question of who they would elect a majority leader after they recovered from the Johnson landslide of 1964.

They hold 77 — possibly 78 — seats in the new 150 - member body.

Two names that often had been mentioned in connection with a GOP takeover of the Assembly were discarded Wednesday, one by choice and the other by virtue of an election defeat.

John H. Terry of Syracuse said he would not accept the post if it were offered him because of his interest in his own 121st District.

The other, Donald Campbell, a veteran of 18 years in the Assembly, was ousted by Miss Mary Ann Krupsak of Amsterdam, a Republican.

Much of the speculation has shifted now to Mrs. Constance Cook, a lawyer from Ithaca.

Another question arose from the election of three new members of the Assembly who see themselves as Conservatives first and Republicans second.

They are Miss Rosemary Gunning of Queens, Vito Battista of of New York and Charles A. Jerabek of Bay Shore.

Could Mean Difference

The three could mean the difference in the balance of power in the house where 76 votes are needed to control. And they could prove hostile to many of Rockefeller's fiscal ideas.

Perry B. Duryea of Suffolk County, the current Assembly minority leader, is the man most likely to be named Assembly speaker and thus will be the man who will have to modify the three Conservatives.

A third question arising from the Republican win in the Assembly is the fate of the Democratic machine of 83 - year - old Daniel P. O'Connell of Albany. Two entrenched assemblymen including Harvey Lifset, Ways and Means Committee chairman—and a state senator, were ousted by Republicans in the county.

Fatten Senate Majority

In the State Senate, Republicans fattened their majority by winning 34 of 57 seats.

One of the more interesting twists Tuesday was the victory of Republican Roy Goodman in the 28th District, the seat held by Whitney North Seymour Jr., who sought other political plums.

Goodman was a financial director in Mayor John V. Lindsey's administration and was considered a top Lindsay aide.

Seymour lost in his bid for Manhattan's 17th Congressional District — the "Silk Stocking" district that launched Lindsay to fame — to Edward I. Koch, a Democratic city councilman.

In all, Democrats and Republicans traded four House seats, giving the Democrats the same 26-15 margin they took to Washington two years ago.

Agnew: Greatest Loyalty

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Because Richard M. Nixon stood by him when others didn't, Spiro T. Agnew will be "as loyal a vice president as has ever been loyal to a man."

Agnew, who will give up his job as governor of Maryland to become the 39th vice president of the United States in January, admits he sometimes said the wrong thing at the wrong time during his first national campaign. He blamed it on his "lack of experience."

In a 12-minute victory statement in the grand ballroom of the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Annapolis Wednesday, Agnew said any "lesser man" than Nixon might have scolded him for some of his "candid remarks."

"During the time that this campaign got rather heated," Agnew said, "during the time that a lesser man may have been inclined to interject into my particular efforts in this all out attempt to be elected, certain advice that may have been very upsetting to me under the intense circumstances, Mr. Nixon showed restraint and confidence in me that few people have ever exhibited, and I can only say this: That as vice president I'll be as loyal a vice president as has ever been loyal to a man."

The vice president-elect admitted he worried at times during the campaign that he might hurt Nixon's chances of winning.

"I would say that Mr. Nixon's attitude, his trust and confidence in me, his refusal to become upset about these matters was a great personal source of strength to me during the campaign," Agnew said.

He echoed a Nixon call for national unity.

"The goal is not to destroy but to create a better America. Today is a time for celebration and rededication," Agnew said. "Let all Americans ahare in this moment of rededication by rejecting partisanship and repudiating extremism."

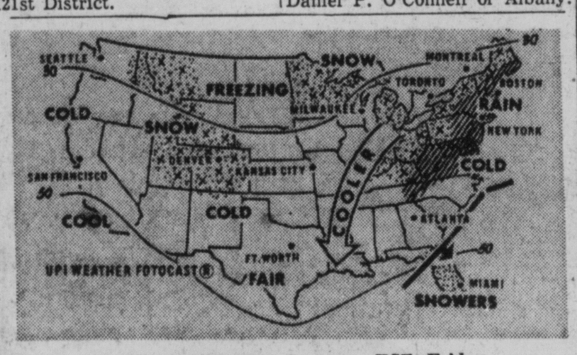

Agnew said Nixon would assign him specific duties when they take office Jan. 20. The duties are said to be concerned with the urban crisis and federal relations with state and local governments.

53 Minutes to Pass the New Town Budget

By CHARLES BERMPOHL

It took 53 minutes for the Town Board of Wawarsing to pass its 1969 budget last night.

$13,231 Increase

The budget shows an increase of $13,231 to be raised in taxes over that of last year.

Total funds to be raised in taxes is $224,710.57.

The public hearing drew only two observers, Frank Saylor and Joseph Stoeckler, Democratic town chairman.

The largest single raise in the figures came in the form of a $15,000 increase in the highway employe's fund.

The highway workers are now unionized under the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

Heading up the department in the coming year will be Karl Fleckinstein.

Fleckinstein, running under the Republican banner in Tuesday's general election, beat out his Democratic opponent Ben Davis by some 500 votes out of approximately 3,900 votes cast.

Saylor, questioning some aspects of the budget, stressed that the new superintendent of highways should have been given much more than the $9,000 alloted to him for the coming year, $500 less than in 1968.

Councilman Deloise Craft agreed, saying that the superintendent could have been given a $2,500 raise but that it was decided to hold the line on the salary in order to keep down expenses.

Saylor continued to question the road superintendent's salary claiming that it was "abomidable."

Councilman Jerome Elkin explained that although the salary is the same as last year ($7,250 with $1,750 for contractural and other expenses), "we are dealing with a new man, an unknown quality."

The indication was that the salary would be raised in time.

The reason given for the $500 decrease under the "other expenses" category was that outgoing superintendant Clifford Marl did not spend all of the $2,250 expense account alloted to him in the '68 budget.

The newly-passed budget provides a $400 increase to Supervisor Frank W. Harkin's yearly salary, bringing it up to $7,400.

Councilman Elkin said that Harkin's increase will only cover "out-of-pocket expenses," and that most of it would be spent in mileage expenses.

Another item raised in the new budget rests under the heading of "home relief grants." The figure was raised from $12,000 to $15,000.

Explains Hike

Town Clerk Kenneth Mitchell explained that the $3,000 raise was in anticipation of an overall increase but "whether we will use it we don't know."

An additional $150 was granted to the library with the overall figure being raised from $2,750 to $2,900.

There were decreases however. Town employes, although enjoying a $700 increase in social security payments, went down $200 in funds set aside for retirement, and there was a $2,000 decrease in money set aside for fire and liability insurance (from $11,760 to $9,760).

The $749.70 set aside for hospital, medical, and surgical insurance in 1968 was eliminated in the new budget because of a new union plan to cover medical expenses for the workers.

The town also benefits from a $1,500 anticipated increase in state aid (from $57,809.40 in 1968 to $59,309.40 in 1969).

The Deputy Clerk of Taxes and Assessments Joseph Brody received a $150 raise (from $5,750 in '68 to $5,900 in '69).

It was explained that the anticipated $10,000 included in the budget — unspent monies presumed to be left over at the end of the year—will be used as an emergency or contingency fund.

Already $2,500 of that $10,000 will be used to pay for the increase in the payment towards the joint village and town dump. At a recent meeting of both the Ellenville and Wawarsing Boards, it was determined that the town would pay the village $7,500 for use of the Berme Road dumping facilities. The previous figure was $5,000 per year.

Unofficial Meet

Wawarsing Supervisor Frank W. Harkin has announced that the next and third "unofficial Town Board" meeting will be held at the Napanoch firehouse Nov. 21 at 8 p. m.

The Republican supervisor stated that, "This will be another one of the board's informal meetings conducted for the primary purpose of bringing local government directly to the effected areas in an effort to resolve problems, answer questions, and plan for the future."

The two previous meetings were held at the old Greenfield School and at the Cragsmoor firehouse.

End of Trail for HHH? Senate Try May Follow

WAVERLY, Minn. (UPI)— After more than a quarter of a century as a major figure on the American political scene, Hubert Humphrey has come to the end of the road.

Maybe.

When Richard M. Nixon moves into the White House next January, Humphrey will leave public office for the first time since he became the crusading mayor of Minneapolis 25 turbulent years ago.

Under normal circumstances, Humphrey would retire to that special political limbo reserved for former aspirants to the White House who never made it.

But the vice president, who can be stubborn politically as well as personally, may very well balk at becoming a revered elder statesman of the Democratic party.

Possible Senate Bid

Even as the very late returns kept trickling in, some of Humphrey's oldest and closest political allies were willing to speculate on the vice president's future and independently agreed that it was more than possible Humphrey would seek the Senate seat from Minnesota, or try for the governorship in 1970.

The chances Humphrey would seek another presidential nomination appeared to be remote. The vice president himself has pointed out that four years from now he would be 61 and that his age would work against his getting the Democratic nomination.

Despite this, several factors could work in Humphrey's behalf if he decided to make one more run for the White House. Among Humphrey's advantages are that he has control of the party organization and that the people he has appointed and will name to the Democratic National Committee are his personal selections and the thousands who worked for his campaign could be expected to remain loyal to the vice president.

Expect Challenges

There is little question Humphrey's leadership will be challenged on several fronts within the next four years. The major challenges could well come from the Senate.

Many observers feel Sen. Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts, the remaining brother of the Kennedy clan, may well decide to seek the presidency in 1972 and certainly could use his powers in the Senate to advance that cause. Similarly, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, Humphrey's running mate in 1968, may very well strike out on his own after winning nationwide acclaim for his campaign this year.

Humphrey, nursing the disappointment of his defeat, has made little mention of what he plans to do in the years ahead. In his concession statement Tuesday, he said, "I intend to continue my dedication to public service, and to the building of a responsive and vital Democratic party."

102 Persons Get Surplus Food Supplies

Last week the Saugerties Neighborhood Service Center supplied food surplus to 102 people in 25 families of our area.

The next meeting of the Center's Advisory Board will be Nov. 11 at 7:30 p.m. in the office at 124 Partition Street.

During the past three weeks the center has been working closely with various agencies to provide transportation to hospitals, clinics, and physicians for people who are unable to make other arrangements. It has referred several cases to the public health nurses for home visits to sick and elderly people. It has also referred several people for job openings and they have started working.

Inquiries have been made about available housing needed by large families. The center has been able to find several houses for these families.

Used clothing has been brought to the center and many families come and get clothing for themselves and children.

Anyone needing help in the fields of Medicaid, Medicare, surplus food, transportation, jobs, or housing are asked to get in touch with the center at 124 Partition Street.

Jayncees Will Attempt Upgrading TV

The Saugerties Jayncees are participating in a statewide television improvement project called "Project Laughter." The purpose is to upgrade the quality of the TV programs young children watch, particularly Saturday morning cartoons.

If every interested parent would take the time to screen the shows and send a letter to the network presidents, sponsors, and advertising agencies, our children should see a great change in television.

If anyone is disturbed by the violent nature of many of these cartoons and would like to participate in this project, contact Mrs. George Pardonner of Saugerties who can provide addresses of networks, sponsors, and agencies to write.

Jayncees also suggest that parents let the networks know how they feel about the shows they think are educational, entertaining, and in good taste.

"A united effort can bring a welcome change in children's programs. Our children can laugh again rather than sit in fear and stare," according to Mrs Pardonner, project chairman.

The President's Men

With election over, voters are understandably a bit uneasy about the silent men President-elect Nixon will bring in about him as his close advisers and assistants. Anonymous, in the shadows, they soon acquire a great share of the power the Constitution places in the President himself, "the most powerful office in the world."

Patrick Anderson, in his new book, "The President's Men" describes the inception and growth of the small band of men on whom the President leans in his awesome office.

Franklin D. Roosevelt really established the tradition of surrounding himself with men of ability to whom he delegated much of his power. Except for Harry Hopkins, who stood alone at the top of the pyramid, they were mostly anonymous men, though some came to be well known.

Dwight D. Eisenhower with his military training more or less formalized his advisors as a staff, with Sherman Adams as the chief. Adams' tragedy is related in its stark humiliation. It was enough to destroy the system, but it came into full bloom with Kennedy.

McGeorge Bundy, Clark Clifford, Theodore Sorenson, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., Pierre Salinger, and several others who helped the young President, really shared the power. They were called the Irish Mafia and they protected their patron and his administration loyally.

In the Lyndon B. Johnson regime, the two most powerful men left the Administration for more lucrative fields—Jack Valenti to become czar of the Motion Picture industry, and Bill Moyer to be publisher of the Long Island newspaper Newsday.

Who will be President-elect Nixon's men? They will share the power and next to him will be the most important men in the White House, if not in government. Theirs is a heady calling, but not an official one. Surely the new President will follow the system. Today's world is too complicated for one man to handle.

Strange Seminar

Four score or more "intellectuals" have been summoned to attend a five-day seminar at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Princeton, N. J., from December 1 to 5, to assess many of the problems that will confront the next President of the United States. Their coming is timed between the election and inauguration deliberately to have the most impact on the coming Administration.

While three-eighths will be Americans, including McGeorge Bundy, president of the Ford Foundation; George Ball, former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations; John Kenneth Galbraith Jr., former Ambassador to India, Arthur Schlesinger Jr., former presidential adviser; and George Kennan, former Ambassador to Moscow, they are obviously picked in favor of the Kennedy-Johnson administration and of "accommodation" with the USSR.

The foreign contingent also is a critical one. It includes Anatoly Gromyko, son of the Soviet foreign minister; Stanislav Menschikov, director of the Institute of World Economy in Moscow; Milovan Djilas, a former Vice President of Yugoslavia, and others from behind the Iron Curtain.

We fail to understand why the next President of the United States needs advice from these men, whether Americans or Europeans, when he is formulating his administration and outlining his policies. He should be free to form the government for which the American electorate chooses him. The last things he needs is an assist from far left of center at home and from avowed enemies from abroad.

Teacher of the Future

One of the great developments of recent times is the explosion in education. More teachers now are engaged in the schools and more are preparing for teaching careers than ever in our history. Yet if leading scientists are right in their predictions, schools as we know them will disappear and teachers will be replaced by computers with consoles which flash right or wrong to each answer as it is given.

A symposium at the California Institute of Technology predicted that computers soon will teach such basic skills as reading and mathematics in one-tenth the time and one-half the cost now required. Dr. Ralph W. Gerard, dean of the graduate division of the University of California, said "the impact of computers will be more important than was the development of printing."

Certainly, to many of us such predictions come as a shock. Most Americans have been well aware of the development of the computer, and its use in teaching very young intelligentsia, but we have thought of its future as being mostly in science and industry. To read that 10,000 pupils could be taught easily through less than 700 computerized television consoles gives pause to any thinking man, who wonders how much of human relationships will be lost in the process.

The forecasters do not specify just when this "revolution" will occur. They use the word "soon." Perhaps children about to begin school will go through all the grades taught by computers, not teachers, in some subjects. But somehow, it dehumanizes learning.

Several Ways to Resolve Vietnam Controversy

WASHINGTON — While on the surface it looks as if there is a deadlock in the Paris negotiations over the Vietnam war, there are ways to resolve the controversy and ultimately bring an agreement.

At the moment, the national pride of South Vietnam has become a major factor. Its government is unwilling to sit down at the same table and on equal terms with the "National Liberation Front" — the political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas in South Vietnam. The North Vietnamese, on the other hand, insist that the Viet Cong must participate in the conferences.

It is clear now that, while President Johnson accelerated the peace talks by his announcement of a halt in the bombing, it is going to take weeks, if not months, of informal talks before a procedure can be worked out that will be satisfactory to all concerned. Hanoi evidently is willing to let matters drift for a while as the American government strives to find some compromise.

The simple way, of course, is not to try to bring all four parties into a formal conference, but to let the United States act in the role of mediator by discussing vital issues with the North Vietnamese government and the Viet Cong. American negotiators could then hold separate meetings with the South Vietnamese government at which there would be full disclosure of just what demands or concessions were being made by the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong.

Certainly the government at Saigon cannot go against its own public opinion by entering into a conference with the Viet Cong — an ally of the Hanoi government — which has been responsible for the guerrilla warfare and terrorism in South Vietnam.

The question of whether President Johnson knew about all of this when he announced the halt of the bombing is causing much comment. He probably was aware that the government of South Vietnam would not be willing to sit down with the Viet Cong. At the same time, he realized that this issue would have to be fully discussed before much progress could be made, so he went ahead with the bombing halt.

Eventually the United States government will have to make up its mind whether to insist that the people of South Vietnam shall determine for themselves their form of government or whether a coalition of some kind is to be imposed upon them against their will.

If the United States did go along with Hanoi's demand that the Viet Cong should play a prominent part in any future government of South Vietnam, the war would not be ended. Even if the president of the Saigon government agreed to a "coalition," it is doubtful whether the people themselves would concur, and this could mean more fighting in South Vietnam.

The problem is how to find a way to assure the people of South Vietnam — who have for years suffered heavy losses — a chance to maintain the government they have elected or be free to elect another one.

With the election in this country over, the new president will have to examine all phases of the controversy and reach a decision as to the extent that the government of South Vietnam will be supported. North Vietnam must be convinced that it cannot take over South Vietnam, and the Viet Cong will have to be content with that decision.

It may take a long while before actual peace is eatablished in Vietnam, but the issues today are not much different from those which prevailed when the United States originally decided to throw its weight on the side of the South Vietnamese. Either that decision is going to be upheld, or the new administration in Washington is, in effect, going to concede that a mistake was made.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

It had to be daylight. He knew it by the hurt in his eyes. The young dark curly head was cupped in the pillow. The face was flushed, the long lashes curving free of the lids, the innocent mouth full and relaxed. The only sign that he was awake was in the movement of the twined fingers on the bedspread.

To know—to know that one knows — is consciousness. This is what he had and it was what he feared. The young man could feel his heart, which was also awake now and afraid, throbbing in his temples and pulsing in the tight embrace of the fingers. Carefully, he partly opened one eye. It was as he had dreaded. He was not home.

The opened eye, aching backward into a cone in the middle of his mind, had seen a cheap crystal chandelier. It looked like a small artificial Christmas tree hanging upside down. He closed the eye and took a long breath. Somewhere in space, he was in another sanitarium or hospital, and he knew not the day or the hour, or where all the others had fled.

There would be a scene, of course. His anguished mother and father would travel to whatever state this was, and would plead with "Dear, dear Reggie" to stop drinking. He would be too sick to debate life at low tide in a bottle, and he would murmur: "I've learned my lesson. This is the last time."

Reggie was 26, looked 18, was married to a drudge who seldom complained, and was what the local paper called the "scion" of its first family. He had been intoxicated for six years and, off and on, had been a patient at a variety of sanitariums and hospitals. In sum, a bum.

He opened the eye wider and permitted the other one to join it. He could hear the critical hissing of a radiator. The room was large and square. His memory told him that most of them were squarish and old-fashioned. It was as though groups of doctors bought old mansions, and put bars on the windows and high fences around the lawns. To balance this, the caretakers always responded sweetly, no matter how crude and abusive the language of the patient. Reggie had been yessed to death by specialists.

Sometimes they strapped him down and crossed his arms and he alternately screamed and slept for days. In others, they had syringes which kept him placid and comatose. A few tried psychiatric treatment, but Reggie was suspicious and hostile. He was sure that he had tried all the known "cures." This one was different.

The roaming eyes in the motionless head caught the bottom of the curtains lifting from an open window. He saw a table and a chair, an oxygen tank against a wall, a door—locked, probably—a fireplace, and over it, a fake marble mantel. The fearful eyes swept the mantel and returned quickly.

There was something on the mantel. One, two, three glasses. Shot glasses. The head began to come slowly off the pillow. They were filled with something brownish. It was an illusion. It had to be. A trick of a monumental hangover. Without looking, he reached for a cord and a buzzer. It was there, pinned to the sheet under the pillow. He pressed, and waited.

The door opened. It had been unlocked. An orderly came in. He was smiling. He was fat and walked like a duck. "I knew you'd be awake soon," he said. "The day is Monday, the time is 2 p.m. and you're in a rest home in Pennsylvania. You have been missing from home for three weeks and you are in no trouble with the police. Your parents will be here in an hour. Anything I can do for you, sir?"

Reggie hurt all over. He almost worked up a smile. "You know all the answers before I ask the questions," he whispered. "Are those drinks whiskey?" He pointed. The orderly nodded. "They are indeed, sir. We have a special private treatment here — very private. You get one drink every hour on the hour." He looked at the mantel. "You are three behind."

"Is it medicated?" Reggie said. The orderly grinned. "It's real enough. Eighty-five proof, sir. The management feels that no one can fight a real drinker. Therefore, we join 'em. Provided, that is, that the patient doesn't tell his family the kind of treatment he's getting."

Reggie put himself up on one elbow. "Bring them over," he croaked. "And hold them to my mouth one by one. How much will it cost my people to keep me here?" The orderly fetched the shot glasses. "Three hundred a week, I believe."

"Fine," Reggie said. "That's dandy. Now give me those drinks and my watch. I may want to spend the winter here."...

Probers Have Prepared Report On News Coverage at Chicago

WASHINGTON — It's still confidential, but congressional investigators have prepared a report on the Chicago Democratic convention which is going to make the TV network executives very unhappy.

This, when linked with the current grand jury action against NBC, will be the first time any forthright action has been taken to challenge network domination over the news.

Congressional probers are making their report to the House Commerce Committee after watching TV reruns of the Democratic convention and checking them against the available facts. They have found the news so grossly distorted that there has even been private talk of forwarding the final report to the Federal Communications Commission with a recommendation that the licenses of the network-owned TV stations be revoked.

One reason the TV distortions in Chicago are taken so seriously is that they had a tremendous impact on the Presidential election. Hubert Humphrey's standing in the polls plummeted disastrously after Chicago.

The behavior of Mayor Richard Daley's nightstick-wielding police, of course, was largely responsible for the impression given the public. But the televised misrepresentations and exaggerations badly hurt Humphrey and the Democrats.

House investigators found that the TV networks repeatedly played up police violence and strongarm tactics without showing the provocation. The TV cameras, for example, focused on one altercation inside the convention hall. All the viewers saw was the police manhandling a delegate. They weren't shown earlier scenes of the delegate biting and scratching the police. One officer was so badly bitten that he had to have medical treatment.

Again and again, the police were shown on the TV screen swinging their nightsticks. But scenes were omitted of hippies hurling bottles, bricks and human excrement at the police, screaming filthy, four-letter words.

The TV discrimination was equally evident during the convention proceedings. Speeches that presented the Democrats in a good light were interrupted repeatedly to focus on just about every dissident who wanted a little nationwide publicity.

There is evidence that TV directors even selected the most unfavorable views and distorted the color to make Humphrey and his supporters look bad.

The House sleuths were also disturbed over the failure of the networks to double-check facts. Raw, unverified reports were funneled to the bigname newscasters who, unwittingly, broadcast the misinformation to the nation.

The TV networks, meanwhile, have obstructed the House investigation with delatying tactics. The investigators are unable to interview witnesses or haggling endlessly with lawyers.

For instance, the investigators have asked to see the out-takes—the TV films which weren't used — to determine whether scenes favorable to the Democrats were suppressed. There have been reports that the TV networks set out deliberately to embarrass the Democrats for locating their convention in Chicago. The move from Miani Beach to Chicago cost the networks an estimated $3 million.

The investigators have been promised a look at the out-takes but, after waiting more than two months, still haven't seen them. CBS, in particular, has thrown obstacles in the way of the House investigators.

Because Congressmen love to perform for the TV cameras, they have jumped through hoops for the networks in the past. But the Democrats are now taking a hard, new look at the networks whose biased coverage of the Chicago convention cost them millions of votes.

They also intend to examine the effect that the TV networks have had in stimulating violence in America. One of television's most eminent producers, Ivan Tors, has reminded his colleagues that many children spend more time before a TV set in their formative years than they later spend in college. He has suggested, therefore, that the television industry shares an equal responsibility with the nation's teachers for the development of our youth.

Tors has managed to produce such hit shows as "Flipper," "Daktari" and "Gentle Ben" without featuring bloodshed and brutality. A layman zoologist, he contends that aggressive behavior in wild animals is an acquired characteristic. The baby animals learn violence, he says, by observing parental behavior. Baby lions, tigers and bears, not instructed in aggression and treated with affection, will not become aggressive.

Tors believes that human animals similarly learn violence from their elders. Children are virtually brought up on violence today through television-tube feeding. Tors is particualrly critical of the Saturday morning cartoons, which package horror and violence for children.

Agreeing with Tors, the National Association for Better Broadcasting has urgently recommended that parents keep their TV sets turned off on Saturday mornings and boycott the products which sponsor these children's horror hours.

A group of advertising men, led by Bert Sugar, is also crusading inside the advertising industry to reduce violence on TV. They call themselves Advertisingmen for the De-escalation of Violence on TV.

After a careful study of the problem, they recently issued an appeal that "the television industry apply the depth of their commonsense talents to the reduction of sadism, torture, irrelevant violence and news sensationalism and to support a continuing effort to understand the behavioral effects of their medium."

Ho Eyes Cambodia, Laos As Routes Into S. Vietnam

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The shift in war tactics, now apparently decided in Hanoi, will require Ho Chi Minh to increase his operations in Cambodia and Laos, if he follows traditional Mao-Ho strategy.

A protracted war of political and economic subversion in South Vietnam — while Ho bides his time for a military overthrow — will necessitate very strong controls over the civilian populations in Cambodia and Laos, which must serve as the infiltration and operations bases. Direct military occupation of access routes has been much simpler. For military purposes, absolute control was necessary only in restricted areas.

But if Ho's new plans are to work, then strong political-psychological pressure must be brought to bear by South Vietnam's surrounding neighbors. The people of those countries must act in concert with Hanoi.

This expansion of Ho's power in Cambodia has already begun.

A few weeks back, Cambodia's Prince Sihanouk quoted a report from his defense minister, Lon Nol, that Cambodia insurgents had established themselves in half of Ratanakiri province on Cambodia's eastern border, next door to South Vietnam.

A short time later Sihanouk said Viet Cong had crossed the border to aid these Cambodia Communists in attacking Cambodian army outposts before returning to Vietnam.

Earlier this year, when this reporter was in Laos, he checked out the inflitration of Communist cadres into the northwest of Cambodia. Opening the door for this northwest inflitration was apparently one major objective of the North Vietnamese campaign in Laos this spring.

Ho's task is made easier because there are in Cambodia somewhere between 400,000 and 500,000 men, women and children who have over the years emigrated to Cambodia, principally from North Vietnam. Many of these emigrants already have been brought under the control of Ho's organization.

These colonies of North Vietnamese are a power in Cambodia. They're frequently the local merchants and rice middlemen who work with the big Chinese merchants. They are a source of tax money, rice and recruits for Ho's apparatus.

Ho will have to revamp thoroughly his effort in Laos, for over the past several years his political and military cadres have made enemies at an incrassing rate. Though militarily Ho has his way in Laos, politically he has failed.

Ho's stepped-up efforts in Cambodia are likely to produce the same reaction as in Laos. His men haven't mastered the art of working with other peoples. Once they get out of North Vietnam, they begin acting like colonial masters.

The mistakes Ho is now making in Laos and Cambodia give Americans an opportunity, through peaceful civil cooperation with the Cambodian and Lao peoples, to make Ho's new strategy fail.

King Hussein Has Two Enemies

By GEORGE WELLER

The treacherous assault on King Hussein by Arab guerrillas has revealed that Jordan's hard-pressed sovereign has two enemies: Israel in front and Syrian in his rear.

The aim of the Baathis party controlling Soviet-subsidized Syria has long been to find a way to bring down Hussein and install a Soviet-type socialist Republican only Arab Government friendly to the United States would be liquidated.

Jordan's well-trained army hardly knows which way to shoot. Israel's planes, unintercepted, cruise her skies at will. Syria's guerrillas abuse Jordan's hospitality by trying to shoot down Hussein's troops.

Before the six-day war Syrian guerrillas used Jordan as a base to launch raids against Israel, hoping that the Israelis would punish Jordan, rather than themselves. At that time when Syria held the Golan Heichts, retaliation against Syria was military too costly for Israel.

Israel obliged the Syrians by putting on a heavy attack including bombing, against purely Palestinian, not Syrian, villages in the Bethlehem area.

Learning from this example of Syrian intrigue, the main guerrilla movement, El Fatah, has banned Syrians — and other Arabs — from its ranks. It is wholly Palestinian Arab in makeup.

In midsummer, when it became clear that the Palestinian guerrillas in Israeli-occuppied Jordan were taking all the fighting risks, the Syrian government started a new guerrilla movement called Khabarb El Nasr.

They accomplished nothing remarkable against the Israelis, but Hussein tolerated them without molestation. Then came their dawn assault against the Arab guard of Hussein, and the attack on the American embassy, repulsed by Hussein's troops. The Syrians thereby revealed themselves as formed to strike Jordan's establishment, not Israel.

End of Vietnam War Will Mean Start of Cambodia's Problems

By OEOROIE ANNE GEYER
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia — It is a little like the end of the season at Vichy when you have enjoyed the waters but they are over," the longtime Cambodian resident said a little sadly.

He was referring to the end of an era in this quiet, beautiful, sun baked buffer state, which now is learning that neutrality is not a philosophy for all season.

For Cambodia, which so skillfully avoided the war that swirled so madly about it now is faced with another of the ironies that form its history. The end of the Vietnam war will probably mean the beginning of Cambodia's problems, and Cambodians are frightened.

Suddenly there is a change of heart in this country that always was violently opposed to the Vietnam war.

"There are quite a few hawks coming out of the woodwork," one foreigner said. "They've been hidden, I don't know where. Imagine, Cambodia hawks who want to go on with the war."

Even Cambodia's ruler, Prince Norodom Sihanouk, seems to many to be troubled by the apparent approaching end of the conflict. On Oct. 23 he told parliament, with an understatement unusual for him:

"Now the war is about to be over. But before we start congratulating ourselves, we must look at what it is going to bring. Our troubles are those of any country neighbors."

What the prince and most Cambodians know and fear is that when Vietnamese stop killing Vietnamese, they will seek to satisfy their desire for gaining territory at the expense of their peaceable Cambodian neighbors. At the same time, with the powers of the world no longer so deeply engaged in Vietnam. The neutral bargaining position that Sihanouk established for Cambodia — and which he used so well — will largely disappear.

Neutrality in Danger

Cambodia's precious neutrality, largely a by-product of the Veitnam war, will be in danger. The big powers won't need it any more. The power that Sihanouk got by playing the giants off against each other will vanish.

Already he is preparing for the changes. In the last few months, for the first time he has acknowledged openly that Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops are using Cambodian territory. He has expressed a concern bordering upon rage about this, for he does not want Vietnamese losers staying on in Cambodia after the war, thus "Vietnamizing" Cambodia's border provinces.

The country is also turning slightly to the West, after a long period of flirtation with the East. Cambodians now come more easily to western homes. The country is joining the Internaional Monetary Fund and the World Bank, after a long period in which it disdained money from the West.

The Cambodian official magazine, Realites, wrote that the time had come for Cambodia to join the mainstream of the world economy. But largely what it means is that Cambodia is looking around for new economic ties, for new assurances that some sort of world balance will continue.

The prince is also quietly carrying out an increasing attack on Cambodian leftists, in particular pro Chinese Communists.

But it is as mistaken now to say that Cambodia is leaning toward the west as it has been previously to say that is was leaning toward the Communist world. "Cambodia, says one diplomat," does only what is best for Cambodia."

What is worrying many Cambodians is where to go now — how to keep the "balance" in world power that assures their independence.

Masterful Job

Most observers, whether they like the prince or not, recognize that he has done a masterful job of keeping Cambodia for the Cambodians. While Vietnam and Laos became battlegrounds for foreign ideologies and foreign interests, Cambodia remained a quiet, isolated little kingdom or, as one observer put it, "a close family where one doesn't talk to outsiders about whom one is leaving one's fortune to."

Sihanouk's obsesive concern was keeping the war out of Cambodia.

He damned the American participation in the war, both out of "Asianness" and to keep American troops from crossing into Cambodia after the Viet Cong. He allowed the Viet Cong to go in and out, largely to keep them from taking over sections of country as their predecessors, the Viet Minh, did.

He allowed Russian and East Bloc technicians to work here and use the country as a listening post.

In the late '50's and early '60s he had a long and emotional flirtation with Red China, which won his heart by guaranteeing his borders against always voracious Vienam and Thailand.

For one thing, Sihanouk underestimated American persistence in Vietnam. He was convinced, the future lay with North Vietnam and with the Viet Cong, and he was convinced that China would leave Cambodia alone for a time. As he said recently, "we know China is waiting for the fruit to fall off the tree, but we never expected them to pluck it so soon."

Now, Cambodia's troubles may just be beginning. "After the war, Vietnam, with its shrewdness and energy, will be built up," says one observer, "and what will happen to poor Cambodia after being friends with everyone, she will find herself friends of nobody. And she will ask, 'is this the price of neutrality?'"

Intrusion by the UAR Jets Latest Spark to Explosion

By JAY BUSHINSKY
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

JERUSALEM—While world attention was riveted on the final hours of the American election campaign, the Middle East seems to be moving quietly toward a new explosion.

The newest spark has come in the form of alleged intrusion by United Arab Republic jets over Israeli-controlled air space east of the Suez Canal.

Military spokesman here identified the two planes as MIG 21s—among the most sophisticated in the rehabilitated U.A.R. air force.

Israeli planes were said to have intercepted the Migs north of occupied El-Quantara and to have driven them back to the U.A.R. side of the waterway. One of the MIGs was reported damaged and trailing smoke.

Their sortie along the canal could signal new trouble ahead. Twice in the last four months brushes with Egyptian jets have been followed within days by vicious artillery battles along the Suez Canal.

It is safe to presume that the Egyptians—or their Russian advisers, if Deputy Premier Yigal Allon's charge that Soviet pilots have been flying Egyptian planes is correct—were out to survey or photograph Israeli positions east of the canal and as deep into occupied Sinai as possible in preparation for new fighting.

Meanwhile, gloom is beginning to replace the hopes of finding a political way out of the persistent postwar crisis.

For the second successive week Premier Levi Eshkol has postponed a scheduled major policy address to the Knesset (parliament). This time his reason is believed to be a desire to await the outcome of his foreign minister's renewed diplomatic contacts at U.N. headquarters.

At the same time grave doubt is being expressed in informed circles here that U.N. peace envoy Gunnar V. Jarring of Sweden can succeed in breaking the Arab-Israeli deadlock before his extended term expires at the end of this month.

In this regard President Johnson is reported to have sent word to Eshkol to the effect that he would like to see Israel adopt a "more flexible position" in its dealings with the U.N. envoy. Mr. Johnson, according to the Tel-Aviv Afternoon Daily Yediot Aharonot, is anxious for Israel to take up "substantive issues" in current indirect dealings with Arab diplomats, but this has been ruled out by Eshkol's cabinet.

The recent escalating violence along Israeli's lengthy cease-fire line with Jordan also is a factor in the growing pessimism here.

In private conversation, Israelis express bitterness at the unprecedented rocket attack on the southern port city of Eilat in which two civilians were reported injured.

The presumption is that the Czech-made 130 M.M. missiles were brought up to the cease-fire line from a base in or near Aqaba.

Rockets also were fired at the city of Beth Shan along the Jordan river for the third time in recent months and two more Israeli soldiers died of wounds sustained in clashes with terrorists infiltrators.

Austrian Image Undergoes Test

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

VIENNA — (NEA) — Austrians have long had the reputation of being a carefree people who spend their time listening to Beethoven, dancing to Strauss and indulging a weakness for baroque architecture and cream cakes.

Now, with Austria celebrating its 50th anniversary as a republic, Nov. 12, the government feels that it is high time to replace this misleading, Hollywood image with a sterner one. Austrians are a sober, hard-working people, according to the new image being propagated by the government.

Without their sobriety and industry, this nation of seven million could never have doubled its output from prewar levels and reached the happy position today where unemployment is almost nonexistent, according to the handouts.

In exhorting Austrians to greater effort, the government stops just short of outlawing the "Blue Danube Waltz." While outwardly giving an impression of self-confidence, Austria, however, faces a number of fears.

Its location in the very heart of Europe has made Austria prey to the political tensions of the countries on her borders, notably Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Yugoslavia and West Germany.

A big military parade, scheduled in Vienna, Nov. 12, had to be canceled when the Czech crisis made it imperative that every available soldier be posted to patrol the borders.

The irony is that this nation's foreign policy is based on neutrality, which Austria agreed to in 1955 as the price for ending the four-power occupation.

By terms of a treaty, Austria agreed not to join any military alliance and not to allow any foreign military bases to be established on her territory.

Neutrality, Austrians hasten to assure visitors, is not to be confused with "neutralism." They cite the fact that when Russian tanks invaded Hungary in 1955, Austria gave refuge to 170,000 Hungarians, while larger and richer nations haggled over the number they would accept. Similarly, following the Soviet crackdown in August, Austria cared for the thousands of Czechs who either fled across the border or who were on vacation and hesitated to return home.

Internally, Austria appears to have achieved political stability.

The first Austrian republic, which lasted from 1918 until Hitler marched in 1938, was marked by instability, culminating in bloodshed and violence.

At the chancellery, I was shown some remarkable film to be released as a television documentary later this year which records the civil war that existed here in the 1920s and 1930s. Among other shots, workers are shown setting fire to the courts in 1927.

Seven years later the Heimwehr the Austrian fascist army, is shown shelling apartment houses, where Socialist leaders were said to have taken refuge.

All of this was a prelude to the invasion of Austria by Nazi troops and the forcible annexation of Austria to the German Reich in 1938. With the collapse of Hitler's Germany in 1945, Austria wasn't let off easily.

Austrians today will tell you that the only thing that saved their beloved republic from anarchy following the war was Marshall Plan aid from the United States. From 1948 to 1955 the United States poured $92 million worth of aid into the country.

WATER TEST—How do they check out water-bombing planes to make sure the water they drop lands where it's supposed to land? Easy. They use paper cups. In the tests for the Canadair Aircraft firm, paper cups were placed in containers staked to the ground at defined positions to collect the water as it fell. About 1,175 ten-ounce cups cover an area of 135,000 square feet. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Thieu Bids Nixon Make Study of War

SAIGON (AP) — President Nguyen Van Thieu today invited President-elect Richard M. Nixon to visit South Vietnam "to make an on-the-spot assessment of the war and the situation" in this country.

"The Vietnamese government, the Vietnamese people and our soldiers fighting in the front lines against Communist aggression will be most happy to receive on Vietnamese soil a staunch defender of freedom, which you have been for many long years," Thieu said.

The invitation was contained in a lengthy cablegram of congratulations from the South Vietnamese leader to Nixon for his narrow victory in Tuesday's election.

Thieu's message did not refer directly to the present strain in U.S.-South Vietnamese relations over Saigon's boycott of the U.S. proposal for expanded peace talks in Paris.

But Thieu told Nixon he was confident that "with you at the helm of the United States, the very close bonds of friendship and solidarity which for many years have united our two countries will be even further strengthened . . ."

While the cablegram did not specify a time, it appeared that Thieu was interested in having the Republican president elect make a visit to Vietnam before he takes office in January.

Escapes Injury

While driving his car west on Route 44-55 at the intersection of Route 209 in the Town of Wawarsing at 11:10 p. m. Wednesday, Thomas Connor, 25, of Roxbury, Mass., escaped injury when the vehicle veered off the pavement into a ditch. Connor told Ellenville state police he was unable to stop at the intersection.

Judge Dismisses Charges Against Newark Boss

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Superior Court Judge Samuel Larner dismissed today charges of nonfeasance against Newark Police Director Dominick A. Spina.

Larner said "nonfeasance is not just attitude but action or nonaction on the defendant's part."

Spina, 57, was accused of willfully refusing to crack down on gambling in Newark. He was indicted by an Essex County grand jury which investigated allegations of corruption in Newark city government.

The grand jury was empaneled after Gov. Richard J. Hughes' Select Commission on Civil Disorder charged a "pervasive feeling of corruption" existed in Newark. The commission investigated rioting in Newark and other New Jersey cities in the summer of 1967.

Larner said, "although the state presented a picture of laxity in support that gambling laws were not enforced, nevertheless that is insufficient proof of defendant's guilt and I am compelled to grant defendant's motion to dismiss the charges."

The judge said that because Spina's methods were different, "less efficient, less successful than those of other agencies, does not establish criminal nonfeasance."

Furthermore, Larner said, the police director cannot be held criminally responsible "for violation of the law by subordinates."

Gets 7 Years In Rape Slaying

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)— Robert L. Pierce, 21, of Slingerlands was sentenced to seven years in prison Wednesday in Albany County Court on his guilty plea to first degree rape in the slaying last June of a Schenectady woman.

Two other youths previously were sentenced in the case. A fourth was cleared by a grand jury.

The woman, Mrs. Rose M. Murh, 47, was found slain on the banks of the Normanskill June 17. Authorities said she had been raped, stabbed in the back with a screwdriver and her head held under water until she drowned.

Joseph B. DiDominico, 18, of Westmere was given 15 years to life on his plea to murder in the case. William P. Sacci, 16, of Menands was sentenced to 10 years for manslaughter.

Probe Money Theft

Ellenville police today investigated a report from Morris Solomon of 4 Lake Drive, that more than $150 was missing from his home. It was reported that Solomon told investigators he discovered the money missing yesterday. Police said investigation disclosed no evidence of a forced entry.

Both Parties Level Charges In Cook County

CHICAGO (AP) — The official vote canvass begins today in Cook County (Chicago) amid charges by both major parties that there was vote finagling in an election which gave Richard M. Nixon the presidency on the strength of Illinois' 26 electoral votes.

Mayor Richard J. Daley, who as head of the Democratic party machinery in Illinois has sometimes been accused by his opponents of finagling with election returns, said Wednesday the official count "might show some interesting figures."

There were 109 unreported precincts in heavily Democratic Chicago and 84 in suburbs. It was generally conceded that these precincts with 400-500 votes each could not overcome Nixon's 135,502-vote plurality in Illinois over Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

With 95 per cent of the state's 10,694 precincts reported, unofficial returns gave Nixon 2,064,756 votes to Humphrey's 1,929,254.

In 1960 anti-Daley forces from Cook County narrowly edged Illinois from the Nixon column in the Nixon-John F. Kennedy election.

Daley was the first Wednesday to claim vote irregularities by the other side. He cited two western suburbs where returns were delayed. The implication was that the delay could permit strengthening the Republican area if the election were very close—a maneuver Republicans charged Daley performed in 1960 when Nixon lost Illinois by less than 9,000 votes.

Asked if he charged irregularities in the western suburbs, Daley said, "Certainly."

"Our watchers said that," he added. "I say, frankly and honestley, there are and have been township clerks and others unlawfully assuming authority. We should watch the townships and the downstate counties."

Daley, who virtually chose the candidates himself, saw most of his state ticket go down to defeat. But Democrats made a sweep of Cook County offices.

Seize Sit-ins At City College

NEW YORK (AP) — Some 400 police moved into the Finley Student Center at City College of New York today and seized scores of antiwar sit-ins and a 19-year-old AWOL soldier they had been giving "sanctuary."

Police Chief Inspector Sanford D. Garelik said the youths were given a chance to leave first but refused. He said the students were generally "calm and orderly" during the arrests.

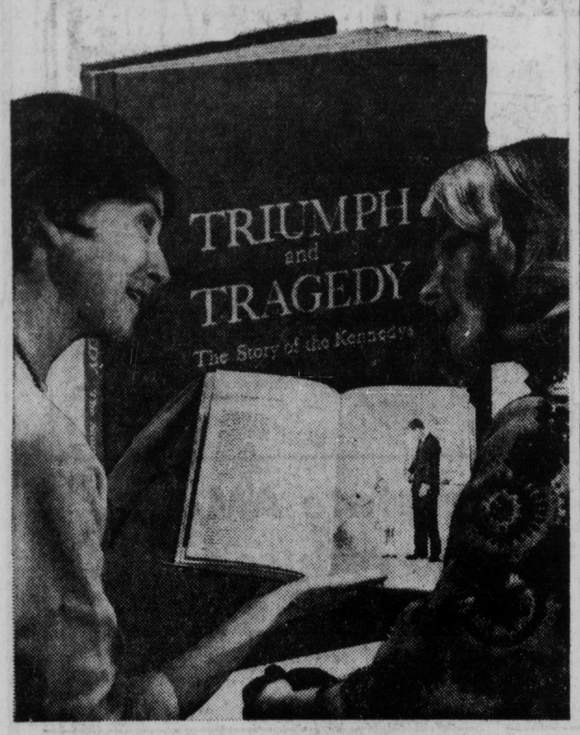

Police said at least 135 were taken to police stations around Manhattan for booking on charges ranging from criminal trespass to disorderly conduct and resisting arrest.

The students had been living at the center in an effort to prevent the arrest of Pvt. William Brakefield, who has been AWOL from Fort Devens, Mass., for 33 days. He sought sanctuary at the college a week ago.

Police said Brakefield, 19, of Van Nuys, Calif., was charged with criminal trespass and resisting arrest and was being held for federal authorities.

The students were taken in police vans by the force of helmeted policemen and a group of policewomen.

You Mean You Haven't Read It?

One of the most talked about books in this year of tremendous news is 'Triumph and Tragedy: the Story of the Kennedys.' Shortly after the assassination of Senator Robert Kennedy, it was produced by a team of the best writers in The Associated Press, the world's largest news gathering organization. Unlike some team efforts, it proved to be a smooth flowing minor masterpiece telling not merely the story of the one assassination but the whole sweeping saga of a family that advanced in four generations from famine-stricken Ireland to seats of wealth, power, fame—and personal disaster—in the United States. A third of a million copies have been sold already in this country alone. It has been translated also into a dozen foreign languages. If you do not yet have your copy of this handsome, generously illustrated volume, you should fill out the coupon at once.

'Being Blind Not the Worst Thing'

Nebraska Teener Won't Let the Darkness Be Terrible

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (AP) — The world of darkness could be terrible if the blind would let it, but George Stoltenberg of Schuyler, Neb., refused—after consideration.

The teen-ager toured the Episcopal church in North Platte and took in every detail from stonework flooring to brass candlesticks and wood carvings in the altar.

Now 17, after four years of being blind due to a disorder called retinal separation, a nearsightedness that gets progressively worse, George learned about his malady after surgery.

"You win some and you lose some," a doctor said to another while George was in the recovery room. "The kid will never see."

George recalled, "All I wanted to do was get up and run. And then reality hit. Where am I going to run to, I thought—I'm blind! My, God, I can't even do that."

He retreated to his room, refused to let friends visit, declined any communication.

"All I thought was that they had come to stare at me and pity me," he said.

Went Out, to School

School began in the fall and George decided to face reality, attending the School for the Blind at Nebraska City. He said he was disappointed that the school didn't fit his picture of a dungeon that would hide him from society.

Being blind isn't the greatest thing in the world, he confided, but it isn't the worst thing either. Being unloved and orphaned are far worse in his opinion. His deduction arises from work with youngsters with no families at special summer camping sessions, where he is a part-time counselor.

He believes his handicap has opened more doorways than it has closed and attributes it to making him a more complete person.

Values Education

"Being blind has sobered me a lot," he said. "Education is terribly important to me now. It never was before. I've often thought if I had not lost my sight I might have gone through life with little sense of value about learning and maybe even less about that thing called 'sense of direction.'"

George travels by himself by bus from Nebraska City to Schuyler and back again on alternate weekends. The trip involves a time layover in Omaha. He moves about in Omaha and visits with persons in the bus depot and on the street.

"Don't let anyone kid you, when you're blind you're scared," he said. "At first, I thought my life was completely shot, that I'd never be able to do anything for myself or anyone else and that thought scared me to death.

"The worst thing that can happen to you is to let anyone convince you or treat you as though you are helpless," he went on. "The blind person who doesn't learn to adjust and function effectively in spite of his blindness is the one who stands out in a crowd."

One of George's goals is to educate both sighted and blind persons to the fact that the blind are "normal."

"I'm not a religious nut," he said, "but, I've sure done a lot of thinking about God. I've got God and religious hang-ups like any teen-ager but I've learned something, too, about the quiet assuredness that comes from inside."

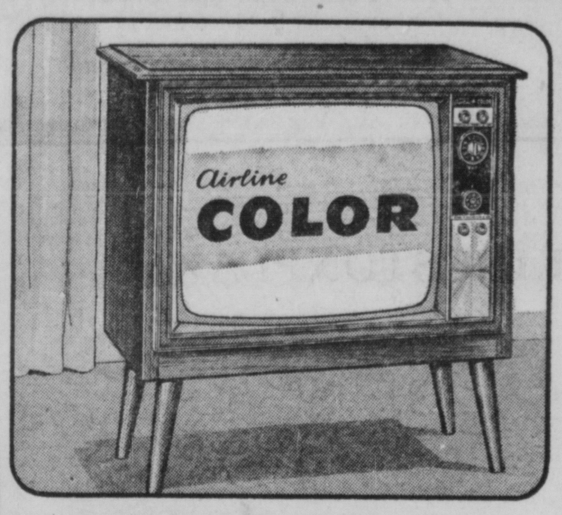

Although he's not certain he has the "stuff" to be a minister, George would like to go to a seminary and graduate.

The Small Allies Often Prove Thorn to Big Powers

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

A danger faced both by the United States and the Soviet Union is that one or another of their smaller allies might become the tail that wags the dog.

Both have faced it in a succession of international crises since World War II.

The United States faced it in Korea where the late Syngman Rhee, president of South Korea, attempted to dictate armistice terms in that war.

Saigon Now

It faces it now in South Vietnam where President Nguyen Van Thieu's conditions threaten hope for success of Paris peace talks even before they begin.

The Soviet Union has faced it in its relations with Castro Cuba, the East Germany of Communist leader Walter Ulbricht and with the Arab states.

Rhee in the 1950's owed his position to the United States, as does Thieu today, since both would have disappeared under the Communist avalanche without U.S. support.

Ulbricht owes his position to the Soviet Union as, to a somewhat lesser degree, to President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Fidel Castro of Cuba.

Rhee almost blew up the Korean armistice talks at the last minute with the arbitrary release of some 25,000 Communist Chinese and North Korean war prisoners.

Nasser sought to draw the Soviet Union into the June, 1967, war with Israel on the charge that the United States and Britain flew support in the air attacks that destroyed his own air force on the ground and paved the way for lightning Israeli victory.

War Fear Factor

Nikita Khrushchev's fear that Fidel Castro's possession of nuclear weapons might trigger off a war with the United States was a factor in Soviet withdrawal of its rockets from Cuba.

Ulbricht operates under similar conditions in East Germany where, despite Ulbricht's repeated threats against West Berlin and the Soviet Union's own threats to make a separate peace with the East Germans, the Soviets never yet have given Ulbricht the right to take unilateral action which might draw them into a world war.

Little is heard these days of the previous Washington argument that in South Vietnam the United States fought to preserve its own vital interests. This could be because China's threat to world peace has declined as the violence of its own internal convulsions has increased.

It may be because of mounting doubts as to the argument's validity.

In Paris, the United States seeks an "honorable" peace on terms largely undefined.

Thieu has declared he will negotiate only with Hanoi and not with the Viet Cong of the South. But peace, when it comes, must involve all the people of South Vietnam and not only those who make up his own power base.

And he must know that, despite the United States' deep involvement in Vietnam, it is not he who will decide U.S. vital interests.

Education: Lifetime Activity

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist

Education is rapidly becoming a lifetime activity. Many adults participate in continuing education programs. The purposes are many and include improvement of ones vocational ability, recreation, and personal interest.

As a result, a high percentage of college students attend on a part time basis. In addition many adults are completing high school or going to trade and other specialty schools while holding full time positions.

The adult who takes on the burden of continued education is a conscientious student. He generally has the responsibilities of a job and family. He has gone back to school because he realizes the value of additional training. The courses will usually involve tuition and other expenses. In order to gain the full benefits of the learning he will need to carefully plan and organize his time.

Study Time

Colleges usually estimate that a student should spend two hours of study time for each hour of class time. Depending upon the nature of the course, trade and technical programs will also require study time.

Before becoming a part time student, it should be remembered that the courses and study will probably take place after a full day of work. Sufficient time should be planned for meals and rest. It is most difficult to concentrate on learning when one is hungry or tired.

The requirements of evening courses should be similar to the normal day time courses. The teachers should also be equally qualified.

A student in a part time program will only get out of a course what he puts into it. In order to benefit the most from a course, careful planning will be necessary. The following should be considered.

Number of Courses

The choice and number of courses are important factors if a student is going to be successful. These two factors should be considered together. Some courses involve only class time with additional laboratory work while others involve extensive outside study time. The number of courses taken should be based upon these considerations in relation to the individual's available time.

Study periods should be scheduled for times when the student is well rested. Morning hours are ideal. Fatigue naturally occurs after a day of full time work followed by classwork.

Efficient use of available time is important. Travel time is wasteful. Take the courses as near to home or work as possible. Try to arrange school library time before or after class hours to avoid extra travel.

Diabetes Week Set For November 17-23

This area will observe Diabetes Week, November 17-23 as part of a national detection and control campaign during which the public will be offered free diabetes testing services, Dr. Norman H. Burg, Physician Advisor of Ulster Chapter, New York Diabetes Association, announced today.

The week will launch a year-round Diabetes Detection Drive sponsored nationally by the American Diabetes Association and co-sponsored locally by Ulster Chapter, NYDA and Ulster County Department of Health.

1,600,000 Undetected Ones

Dr. Burg expressed the hope that all citizens and physicians in the community will cooperate in the concerted effort to find the "hidden" diabetes in this area. He said that ADA reports there are at least 1,600,000 undetected diabetics in the United States.

Dr. Burg explained that untreated diabetes can lead to serious consequences—including heart and kidney ailments, impairment of sight and infections—but that, in most cases, the condition can be controlled if detected early. "And with the condition under control," said Dr. Burg, "most diabetics can quickly resume their accustomed activities."

The Chapter medical advisor also explained that while diabetes may occur in anyone, including children, it is most often found in the overweight, the middle aged and those who have a history or diabetes in the family.

"Testing is a wise precaution for everyone, but of particular importance to those who fall into these categories," he said.

Free Testing

Mrs. Hilda Brett, Ulster Chapter Detection Drive Chairman, has announced the following locations will be available for the free testing: The industrial sites will include Ferroxcube Corp. of America and Rotron, the lobby of the County Office Building and First Federal Savings and Loan Association. The date and time will be announced.

Cancer and Kiwanis Plan— Regular Physical Checkups

SYRACUSE—Men prominent in business, community and professional life have launched a nationwide demonstration project to illustrate the common sense behind a regular physical checkup, including cancer tests.

Joint announcement of the project has been made by the American Cancer Society and the Board of Trustees of Kiwanis International. It is hoped that the example of 250,000 Kiwanians, each an opinion leader, can reverse the average man's reaction from "I feel great, why have a checkup" to "I feel great because I had a checkup."

Research undertaken by the American Cancer Society indicates that only 13 American men get regular health checkups to ever 40 women. It is significant that 55 men die of cancer in this country to every 45 women. Early detection, thanks to regular health checkups, is one reason for the difference.

Continuing through September, 1969, members of Kiwanis Clubs everywhere will be asked to have checkups and begin a lifetime practice. Those over 40 will be urged to have "proctos" (proctoscopic examinations) as a safeguard against cancer of the colon and rectum.

Each Kiwanis Club will tally the number of checkups achieved by its membership and will become eligible for special awards on that basis.

"By setting examples in their home communities, Kiwanians can help to persuade all men to begin a lifetime habit to save lives now needlessly lost to cancer. Cancer is one of the most curable of the major killing diseases, provided that it is found early and treated promptly and properly," said Dr. Roger A. Harvey, president of the American Cancer Society.

"We in Kiwanis International are eager to cooperate with the Society in this challenging but rewarding program," said Harold M. Heimbaugh, president of Kiwanis International. "We have pledged our full support because it is a Kiwanis aim to develop by precept and example, a more intelligent aggressive and serviceable citizenship."

Dr. Harvey added that the project could meaningfully advance the Society's efforts, through education to alert men to their responsibilities to themselves, their families, their employers and their communities.

The early Irish divided their year into four parts. New Year's Eve was Oct. 31, our Halloween, and May 1 divided the hot and cold seasons. The other two great feast days were Feb. 1 and Aug. 1.

Pro-Soviet Czechs Answer the Leaders

PRAGUE (AP) — A crowd of pro-Soviet Czechoslovaks shook their fists and vehemently shouted "Long Live the Soviet Union" today into the faces of Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik.

The hard-liners crowded around the two reformist leaders as they left a wreath-laying ceremony at Olsany Cemetery and grabbed at their coats, shouting "We're with the Soviet Union!"

Several of them held Cernik by the coat and screamed in his face: "Why don't you put your regime in order?" and "Why don't you put order in the schools?"

Cernik flushed, answered something, tore himself away and entered his car.

Part of Anniversary

The ceremony at the cemetery was part of the observance of the 51st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution and included the unveiling of a memorial to Czechoslovak soldiers who fought with the Soviet army.

It was the first time since the August invasion by Soviet forces that public appearance by Dubcek had not been greeted by adulation and shouts of support. The outburst was a manifestation of sentiment for the old guard that would like to discredit Dubcek's regime and reverse the reforms it has tried to maintain despite the Soviet occupation.

Dubcek, Cernik and Ezven Erben, chairman of the National Front, led the first group to place a wreath at the Soviet memorial. Several other wreaths also were placed, including one by Soviet Ambassador Stefan Chernevenko.

At the end of this ceremony, shouts of "Long Live the Red Army!" and "Long Live the Soviet Union!" broke out.

The crowd of about 500 persons then sang the "Internationale" and Dubcek joined in.

Surrounded by Crowd

The crowd then moved about 150 yards to another part of the cemetery for the unveiling of the monument. After that was over and Dubcek and Cernik made their way toward their cars, the hostile crowd swarmed around them.

Dubcek was halted only momentarily. Three or four people delayed Cernik, and he tried to speak with them. But as the shouting continued, he broke away, climbed into his car and was driven off.

Several Russian officers were present with the ambassador, and so was Vasily Kuznetsov, the first deputy Soviet foreign minister who has been Moscow's special representative in Prague during the long crisis.

As the Russians left the cemetery, the crowd cheered them and tried to shake their hands. Many shouted "We're with the Soviet Union forever!"

Nixon's Political Comeback Viewed as Amazing Recovery

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—As election returns solidify and the Republican victory takes on added validity, the more amazing becomes the Tuesday victory of Richard M. Nixon.

Seldom, if ever, in American political history has a man suffered the jolting defeats Nixon did for the presidency in 1960 and for governor of California in 1962, and then come back to win the nation's highest office.

The fact that Nixon has come out of the shadows to victory seems certain to produce some changes in his political personalities. He may be far more magnanimous as chief executive than many of his political enemies would believe from past experience.

For one thing, no one realizes more than the president-elect he received considerably less than a ringing mandate from the voters. In the manner of the late John F. Kennedy in 1960, Nixon squeaked through—and some Democrats will be challenging his victory in certain states for weeks to come.

Nixon also knows what his mentor, former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, experienced for six of his eight years in the White House with a Democratic congress at the other end of Pennsylvania Avenue.

Therefore, while he is building a Cabinet, Nixon also must lay some lines of sympathetic communication with the Democratic leadership on Capitol Hill and conduct himself as a coalition president if he intends to get much of his program through the House and Senate.

The new chief executive has to be mindful of the nine million plus votes cast for American Independent party candidate George C. Wallace.

It is doubtful Nixon would give much thought to the Wallace people when selecting a Cabinet, but he cannot escape the fact that the Wallace camp, indeed, did exist and could grow stronger over the next four years if not handled properly from Washington. The Democrats are another matter and Nixon can be expected to include some of the opposition in his government, perhaps on the Cabinet level. These would not be readily identifiable Johnson or Humphrey Democrats, but semi conservatives relatively free of a personality taint.

Some who have known Nixon for years feel that when it comes to early legislation and staffing of his administration, he is quite capable of action which might surprise some of the Republican old guard, such as selecting one or more Negroes for high public appointment. Indications are there will be at least one woman in his Cabinet, perhaps more on the agency head level.

INVESTOR FORUM

DOLLAR FUTURES
By HARRY C. FRANCE

Dollars for future delivery pose a problem for many investors. With inflation in the saddle, it becomes highly important to protect money against further deterioration.

I am frequently asked how best to set up plans for future dollar deliveries. The first question to ask in this connection is: When will the dollars be needed?

A grandfather, recently retired in his early 60s, wishes to set up a fund to pay his grandson's college expenses. The best estimate is that a fund of about $15,000 to cover four years will be necessary.

The young man will enter college in September, 1970.

For short-term dollar needs, the obligations of the U. S. government are ideal. Maturities are to be had to fit any situation. This young man will be in college in 1970-73. And bonds of our government can be bought at interesting discounts from face value that will fall due just before he returns to college every fall.

Right now, U. S. government 4s, due in August, 1970, can be bought for about 97 cents on the dollar. The yield to maturity is 5.13 per cent.

The 4s of August, 1971, are to be had for 96 cents on the dollar, with a yield of 5.19 per cent.

The 4s of August, 1972, are selling at 95 cents on the dollar with a yield of 5.20 per cent.

And the 4s of August, 1973, can purchased for 94 cents on the dollar with a fine yield.

This grandfather has bought for around $15,000, $16,000 worth of these short-term bonds.

In America, there are billions of dollars owned by those who need safety and a good return.

It is gratifying to this grandfather that in August, 1968, he has set up a fund that will adequately finance his grandson's education. The bonds will mature about a month before the young man goes back to college each year.

In recent months in this column the attractive nature of government obligations has been emphasized.

Long-term dollar futures (10 years or more) are best secured by the purchase of common stocks.

Inflation's end is not in sight. And America is on the move. National income is steadily increasing. Our country's great corporations are prosperous.

Investors worried about owning common stocks should take a day off and visit banks and brokerage houses where the statistics about sales earnings and dividends can be studied.

A well-managed corporation sells its products and services based on reasonable profits.

And as I have said for years, for long-pull investment, nothing is superior to a good equity.

THE FORUM

To many inquirers: over 70 per cent of my own wealth is invested in common stocks. I speculate with 20 per cent of it. The rest is in cash.

(Important investment guidelines and facts about 100 businesses are provided in Dr. France's new 48-page booklet, Managing Money. Send $1 (no stamps) to Dr. Harry France, Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 2492, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.)

3 Children Suffocated In Refrigerator

SUNBURY, Pa. (UPI) — A brother and two sisters, the oldest 5, were suffocated Wednesday when they crawled into a refrigerator in the kitchen of their home and the door closed behind them.

The youngsters were Walter Straub, 5, and his sisters, Theresa, 3, and Tina, 2, children of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Straub.

Their bodies were found by the mother, who had been cleaning on the second floor of the home. The father was at work.

The distraught Mrs. Straub said she heard the television playing while she was on the second floor and believed the youngsters were watching it.

She came downstairs saw they were missing, and thought immediately of the refrigerator which she had cleaned Tuesday. Then she opened the door to find the youngsters.

Mrs. Straub called a rescue squad. Members worked over the children frantically for 45 minutes in an attempt to revive them.

CONDUCTOR DIES—Charles Munch, 77, musical director and conductor of Orchestra de Paris, was found dead in his hotel room in Richmond, Va., Wednesday, apparently the victim of a heart attack. A native of Germany, Munch left his homeland when Hitler came to power. He was conductor of the Boston Symphony from 1948 to 1963. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Plane Becomes Battleground For Quartet of Desperadoes

By PATRICK J. KILLEN

MANILA (UPI)—Volleys of gunfire snapped through the cabin of a twin-engine Fokker Friendship 10,000 feet over the Philippine countryside.

A woman among the 39 passengers and four crewmen fainted. Eulalio Ladanan clutched his wife and whispered, "We have to be together, come what may."

Four robbers and a federal policeman named Florencio Villarin turned Philippine Air Lines flight 158A into a battleground Wednesday, 35 minutes from Manila.

Vitaliano Pagarin, 51, a town official of Bislig on Mindanao, died in the crossfire, a bullet in his chest. The robbers emptied their pistols at Villarin, wounding him. One of them was grazed.

Philippine police today combed Manila for the four neatly dressed desperados following their escape from the plane at a remote corner of Manila International Airport.

Wednesday's flight 158A from Cebu in the central Philippines to Manila began its sleepy night run as usual. It wasn't until the descent to 10,000 feet that the trouble began.

One of the robbers burst into the cockpit, thrust a pistol into pilot Luis Bonnevie and announced: "This is a hijack."

He said he was "Boy Marquez," responsible for shooting the Philippine speaker of the house last year. "I have nothing to lose," the robber said.

His three companions began robbing the other passengers. They came to Villarin. He whipped out his pistol and opened fire.

Men, women and children dived screaming for the inadequate cover of their padded seats. It was over in seconds. Ladanan and his wife lapsed into shock, later to be hospitalized.

"Boy Marquez" told the crew to land the plane on Manila's runway, a mile from the terminal.

At gunpoint, Bonnevie taxied the plane to a far corner. The robbers took him and two other crewmen to the airport fence as hostages warning passengers not to follow.

Then they climbed over the wire fence, got into a getaway car and were gone, leaving behind the crewmen. There were no solid leads to their whereabouts, police said.

Arrest Two Men After Shooting Of State Trooper

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — A State Police investigator was shot Wednesday night and police early today arrested two men they accused of wounding him.

Senior Investigator Edward Stillwell, 33, of the Lewiston State Police substation was shot by two men who approached his automobile intending to rob him, police said. The bullet entered an arm and lodged in the neck.

Police said Stillwell had been investigating a series of robberies and other crimes.

After the shooting, a force of 30 state troopers and Niagara Falls police raided a house in this city and arrested five youths.

Two of them, Thomas Robinson, 18, and Robert Jones, 17, both of Niagara Falls, were accused of shooting Stillwell. They were charged with first-degree assault, attempted robbery and criminal possession of dangerous weapons.

Police said they confiscated two weapons during the raid, including the one they said was used in the shooting.

The other youths were charged with criminal possession of stolen property.

Stillwell was reported in satisfactory condition in Niagara Falls Memorial Hospital.

The shooting occurred at 13th Street and E. Falls Avenue.

Soviets Omit U.S. Attack

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Defense Minister Andrei A. Grechko omitted the usual attack on the United States today as the Soviet Union celebrated the 51st anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution with a display of missile might that included no new weapons.

In another break with tradition, Marshal Grechko in his speech at the annual Red Square ceremony made no mention of Vietnam.

The defense minister, flanked on Lenin's tomb by Soviet leaders, spoke only against "imperialists" in general, repeating the standard Soviet charge that they are "increasing tensions and creating the danger of a new world war."

Grechko did not refer to the U.S. presidential election or the Vietnam peace talks in Paris. But the departures from the usual wording of his speech seemed to indicate that the Kremlin does not want to hurt its chances of getting along with President-elect Richard M. Nixon.

They also appeared to be aimed at avoiding anything that might hamper progress toward bringing the Vietnam war to an end.

Grechko in probably the mildest Bolshevik anniversary speech made here in many years, also refrained from attacking China or any other country by name.

His five-minute speech, always closely watched for indications of changes in Kremlin thinking, bore down heavily on the theme of Communist unity and threats to this from the West. This new emphasis was obviously linked to the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia and the dissension that caused in the Communist movement.

He never specifically referred to Czechoslovakia, and asserted that "just as in the past, the Soviet armed forces now serve not the purpose of attacking and capturing foreign territories, but of safeguarding the cause of peace, socialism, international freedom and independence."

These included, he said, the "poisoned atmosphere" created by the Vietnam war and U.S. attempts at "bridge-building" in East Europe.

Sihanouk: Would Free Yanks for Bomb Promise

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia said today he would release 11 American prisoners if President Johnson promises the U.S. armed forces will "do their best' to stop bombing incidents along the frontier with South Vietnam.

The Cambodian chief of state made his offer in an emotional statement at the end of a news conference. He said he was holding the Americans as hostages to ensure that no more Cambodians were killed along the border by American and South Vietnamese forces.

The 11 U.S. Army men and one Vietnamese were captured last July 17 when their landing craft strayed across the Cambodian border while on a supply run from Vung Tau on the South Vietnamese coast to Can Tho on the Mekong River. Sihanouk produced them for visiting newsmen Wednesday and the men said they had been treated well.

Sihanouk's offer was a dramatic reduction of his earlier terms that the United States must issue a formal recognition of Cambodia's border as claimed by the prince and deny the claim of South Vietnam to several offshore islands in the dispute between the two nations.

Sihanouk made the offer to Johnson at the close of an hour and half long news conference for Western newsmen in Phnom Penh for the 15th anniversary of Cambodian independence.

"I am ready to send back the 11 if President Johnson says to me he wishes the liberation of the 11 and he promises on behalf of his army to do his best to stop the bombings," Sihanouk said.

The 11 Americans are Sgt. Harold D. Sims of Kingman, Ind.; Pfc John P. Chevalier of Jersey City, N.J.; W-O Ralph McCullough of Columbus, Ga.; Spec. 4 Klaus Zupp of White Plains, N.Y.; Sfc Winfred Crowe of Duluth, Ga.; Spec 4 Harley M. Cassell Jr., of Danville, Va.; Spec. 4 Donald F. Grisby of Springfield, Ohio; Sgt. Lee E. Henry of Los Angeles, Calif.; Spec. 4 Donald E. Prince of Columbus, Ohio; Sfc Floya A. Wilmoth of Yadkinville, S.C. and Sgt. Terry L. Kramer of Wauzeka, Wis.

Author Attempts To Chew Hat

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) —Clinton Rossiter, Cornell University political science professor and author, Wednesday chewed on but did no appreciable damage to a straw hat belonging to Cornell President James A. Perkins.

The attempted hat eating stemmed from a remark Rossiter admitted making in 1967 in connection with his prediction that George C. Wallace would not pull more than 2½ per cent of the national vote.

While his star prof was chewing, Perkins allowed as political science professors "make lousy prophets."

The fact that Rossiter, during a lecture, had promised to eat the Cornell president's hat in the event Wallace received more than the 2½ per cent was brought to light by a pair of seniors, Thomas E. Albro of Poughkeepsie and Louis M. Danner of Cincinnati, Ohio.

Resnick Offers Fish Assistance of Staff

Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick whose seat in Congress will be filled by Republican Hamilton Fish on Jan. 1, congratulated the Millbrook lawyer upon his election today offering the assistance of himself and his staff concerning congressional matters in the 28th district.

Resnick, who is completing his second term in Congress and did not seek reelection to that post also issued a statement in which he points out to the Republican Party "their tremendous responsibility." The Ellenville Democrat said that the GOP now controls every major office in New York State plus both houses of the state legislature.

"It is my sincere hope," he said, "that the Republicans are aware of their responsibilities and that a great many people will be watching what kind of performance the Republicans will deliver and what type of representation the people will receive."

Of Fish's Democrat opponent, John S. Dyson, Resnick said he did "an outstanding job and must be congratulated on an excellent first run. I predict a long and brilliant future for you," he told the young Millbrook newspaper publisher., "and I am sure that the people of the 28th Congressional District will one day in the near future recognize you are the type of representative they need in Washington. Unfortunately it didn't seem to be a Democratic year in the Hudson Valley. But, as the Brooklyn Dodgers used to say, "just wait until next year."

Pope Sends Cable to Nixon

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI cabled congratulations today to U.S. President-elect Richard M. Nixon, whom he received in private audience last year for talks on Vietnam.

The pontiff said he would pray for strength and guidance for Nixon.

It was the first official Vatican reaction to the elections, which informed sources said the Pope followed closely.

New Hampshire Voters Wrong

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The voters of Coos and Strafford counties in New Hampshire are no longer politically infallible.

They voted for Hubert H. Humphrey over President-elect Richard M. Nixon Tuesday, thus failing for the first time since 1896 to go for the winner.

Their fall from prophetic perfection left three bellwether counties which have voted for the national presidential victor every election this century.

They were: Palo Alto County, Iowa; Crook County, Ore., and Laramie County, Wyo. All went for Nixon.

On a state basis, New Mexico gave its electoral vote to the presidential winner for the 17th straight time—a perfect record since achieving statehood in 1912. A computer whiz said the odds of doing this are 7 in 10 million.

Students Clash With Riot Police

TOKYO (AP) — More than 3,000 radical students protesting the U.S.-Japan security treaty clashed with riot police tonight when they tried to break into Prime Minister Eisaku Sato's official residence.

About 10,000 police used tear gas and water guns to repel, the students, who wore steel helmets and were armed with wooden staves.

Police said more than 50 students were arrested on charges of violence and obstructing the police. About 20 students appeared to be injured.

The students marched past the U.S. Embassy before the clashed with the police near the prime minister's residence.

Assault Charged

Charged with second degree assault, Irene Clarke, 23, who gave her address as 141 Foxhall Avenue, was arrested Wednesday and arraigned before Esopus Town Justice Charles D. Montafia. Hearing was adjourned until Thursday, Nov. 14 at 7 p. m., and the defendant was released in $20 bail. The complaint was made by Mrs. Olive Clarke of 176 Tilden Street, Port Ewen, according to County Investigator Harold T. Bowers, who made the arrest with Detective Joseph Feraca and BCI Investigator L. M. Luongo.

HHH May Capture Popular Vote Count

NEW YORK (UPI)—The candidacy of Hubert H. Humphrey for the presidency under two party labels in Alabama gave him two popular vote totals in that state and could lead to his having received a nationwide popular vote larger than that of the successful GOP presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon.

The result would not change the electoral vote standings.

Latest figures on the national presidential race from the New Election Service (NES) showed the standings of major presidential candidates to be:

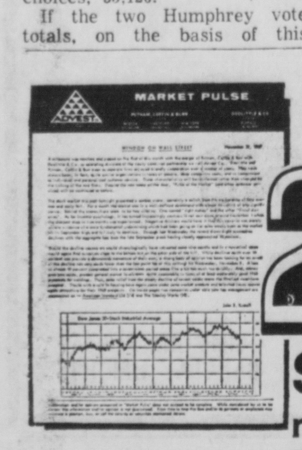

With 157,775 precincts reporting, 94 per cent of the precincts, Humphrey had 29,677,152 or 43 per cent as the Democratic candidate, including one of the two Alabama voter choices; Nixon 29,726,403, 43 per cent; George Wallace, 9,291,807, or 14 per cent; and Humphrey on the second line of Alabama's choices, 53,120.

If the two Humphrey vote totals, on the basis of this incomplete count, were added together, he would show 29,730,272, a lead of 3,869 over Nixon.

The separate tally on the Humphrey vote was carried nightlong in presidential bulleting from the NES, but it aroused little notice until the closeness of the popular vote emerged.

In Alabama, Humphrey was not the nominee of the regular Democrats; this was Wallace, the only state where he ran as such. Instead, Humphrey ran on two "splinter" loyalist parties, the Alabama Independent Democratic Party, which gave him the larger of his two Alabama votes, and that of the National Democratic Party of Alabama, which ran electors pledged to him and a full slate of candidates for other office. Humphrey, however, gave his endorsement to the AIDP, and not to the NDPA.

The state's 10 electoral votes went to Wallace.

AA-Rated Bond Offers Excellent Income

Q — At 76, my wife and I are having difficulty making ends meet. I retired two years ago on Social Security, a small pension and dividends from Cities Service Co., Ford Motor Co., Sante Fe Industries, Standard Oil of new Jersey, Affiliated Fund and Wellington Fund. Should we invest some of our $20,000 savings to get more income?—L.H.

A — Your portfolio offers a good balance of adequate income and moderate growth potential.

Because Cities Service moved up sharply on its participation — through ownership of Atlantic Richfield preferred shares — in the Alaksa oil boom, yield is currently on the low side. Nevertheless, shares should be held for their appreciation prospects.

Jersey Standard needs no additional comment — having been recommended here repeatedly.

Santa Fe — holding company for Atchison, Topeka — has the added appeal of continued diverscification into nonrail activities and should be held for income.

Ford has begun to recoup its normal 26 per cent segment of the total automotive market after last year's strike which reduced this figure to 22 per cent.

Your mutual funds should be held for their yeild and gradual growth.

By investing about one-half of your savings reserve in AA-rated West Penn. Power 7⅛s of 1998 you will increase your income modestly. These bonds, trading now below their call price, offer better than 6½ per cent interest.

Q — A $2,000 legacy is to come my way and I want to invest part of it. I am in my 20s, single, working and have $500 saved. Could you suggest a stock for purchase with this inheritance plus $50 a month from now on?—B.K.

A — Priority should be given to increasing your savings. Thus, I would not recommend putting more than one-third of your legacy into stocks.

Belding Hemingway, manufacturer of home furnishings, sewing notions and fabrics for retail and industrial consumers, is an attractive purchase. Shares, now trading at about 17 times estimated 1968 results, appear to have further upside potential. I would bank $50 a month and invest later in another promising issue.

Pope Confers On Situation Within Poland

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI conferred today with Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski on the situation in Poland.

The Pope and the Polish primate met for 45 minutes in a private audience in the pontiff's quarters in the Apostolic Palace. It was the first time Pope Paul had been able to see the cardinal in three years.

The Warsaw regime in 1965 banned Cardinal Wyszynski from leaving his country in a flareup of church-state tensions that followed the letter of reconciliation Poland's bishops sent to the German episcopate.

The 67-year-old cardinal arrived in Rome Wednesday for a month's visit.

The couple was last seen in a local tavern Monday night. The girl was admitted to Community Hospital in Cobleskill for treatment of exposure and frostbite.

Swartz lived at 1094 Congress St. and the girl resides at 150 Bridge St.

A Typical Day in Vietnam

Blazing Hot One Particularly Sour to 'Grunters'

KHE SANH VALLEY, Vietnam (AP) — It was one of those blazing hot days when the word "grunt," nickname of Marine infantrymen, tasted particularly sour to the Leatherneck riflemen hacking their way through the jungle.

The day's hump, or hike under full pack, started on Hill 424, a knoll covered with elephant grass six miles west of the abandoned Marine combat base at Khe Sanh. Packs, including seven days' groceries, ammunition and other gear made the average load about 80 pounds.

Moving down the slope toward the east, the Marines quickly were swallowed by heavier and taller stands of the grass. It grows up to nine feet tall with edges that can cut unwary fingers to the bone.

Learn to Live With Them

Many Leathernecks wore light leather gloves because cuts can turn into jungle rot, festering sores that spread rapidly over the body. But most Marines in the demilitarized zone area have learned to live with the running sores and consider them no more serious than a man would a shaving nick in the "real world," as the United States is called.

Near the bottom of the hill, the dense grass held the muggy air close to the ground. Shafts of sunlight occasionally broke through the gloom. Moving along the mud-slick trail was like being trapped on a slippery treadmill in a sauna bath. Gulped air seemed to contain more water vapor than oxygen. Pounding hearts and straining lungs forced extra oxygen into taut muscles.

The column formed by Gulf Company, 2nd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, halted often. The men collapsed where they stood on the trail cut by machete-wielding Marines up front. No one was really that tired yet. But each man knew that every ounce of energy would have to be conserved to master the brutal day ahead.

At the bottom of the first hill, the Leathernecks began wading through a chilly mountain stream. The knee-deep water was welcome even if it meant wet socks. With repeated foot dunkings, the soles of the grunts' feet began to shrivel, crack and in some cases bleed before the day was out.

The stream bed abounded with wild flowers, but few noticed them. On the trail, the trick is to close the mind to everything but the next step, the next rest stop and any sound or movement that could mean the enemy is sharing the jungle hell with you.

Because of the danger of enemy artillery, each Marine wore a flak vest, a zippered affair that protects against flying shrapnel but weighs 12 pounds and holds in body heat. Less than an hour out from Hill 424 the Marines were sopping wet from head to toe. Streams of sweat cut through caked red dust picked up when the Leathernecks hacked out fighting holes the night before.

By 10 a.m. heavy panting even after short climbs was clearly audible. The elephant grass and stream bed had given way to a four-foot deep, seemingly endless blanket of thorn bushes and vines. The heat increased as the Marines moved more and more in the full glare of the sun.

The smashed thorn growth on the trail became as slippery and treacherous as the red clay mud of the stream bed. Muscles repeatedly were wrenched into reverse as men fought for balance under their heavy packs.

By late morning, the Leathernecks could look back a quarter mile and see the hill they had started from more than two hours before.

Lunch time came and went without a chow break. The rest periods weren't long enough to eat, and the thought of heavy combat rations on overheated stomachs was too much for most of the men anyway.

Some had become dizzy from the heat despite the salt tablets and the careful pace. Echo Company on the left flank already had sent some heat casualties out in medical evacuation helicopters.

Sun Has Been Fatal

Men have died from the sun in Vietnam. Dehydration and a lack of sufficient salt cause muscles—including the heart—to knot and finally to refuse to function.

By midafternoon, the lead platoon reported a major river just ahead. The pace quickened as the men responded almost like beasts of burden to the promise they soon could drink their fill again and soak in cool waters.

As they reached the river, some men were staggering, close to collapse. The swift-flowing waters were muddy but many men plunged their faces below the surface as they waded across and drank deeply. Canteens were filled and iodine tablets added to purify the water.

Some men dipped helmets into the rushing water and poured the contents over their heads. A few simply sat down in the water, pack and all, as they reached the shallow water of the far shore.

Although refreshing, the crossing added to the Marines' burdens. Water-soaked packs, sleeping gear and clothing meant added pounds to hump up the steep hill in front of them.

Someone further up the chain of command decided to call a halt as the top of the hill was reached. Echo Company had four critical heat exhaustion cases and several more men in serious condition. The screams of one of the men could be heard clearly a half-mile away.

The Leathernecks would spend the night outside the ruins of Lang Con village. The temporary company command post on the lip of a 500-pound bomb crater was almost exactly one air mile from the crest of Hill 424 where the Marines had started 6½ hours earlier.

The zigzag, up and down track the Marines had followed probably had covered four miles or more.

In Vietnam, days often are measured in the number of canteens drunk and hours of walking, not in the straight-line distance covered.

As the Marines rested, they had only one certain knowledge of what the next day would bring—more blinding sun, another long hump, a new point on the map reached, another day closer to home.

Nixon's Presidential Win: How Most of World Reacted

By United Press International

From Saigon to Moscow to Quito governments and private citizens alike reacted today to Richard M. Nixon's presidential victory, expressing everything from delight to apathy to outright scorn.

Prime minister Eisaku Sato of Japan said Nixon's election "will serve as a source of power, not only for Americans but for all democratic peace loving nations of the world."

President Park Chung Hee of South Korea said the Nixon administration would bring "closer relations" between the two countries.

Germans generally saw it as more of the "Eisenhower years" which they felt were friendly to their country.

Communist China said it made no difference which candidate won because all three were "jackals of the same lair."

The Soviet Union in effect offered to discuss with the new president the problem of nuclear disarmament. Moscow radio said it was not surprising Humphrey lost.

The cost of living had risen, crime had increased, racial disorders had soared and there was "the shameful aggression in Vietnam" during the Democratic Party's eight years in power, Radio Moscow said.

For some men in foreign streets there was doubt about what the new administration would bring. Some Europeans asked if the Republican administration would bring a return to isolationism for America.

"Hungarians did not love Humphrey either," said a Budapest jounalist. "But people are afraid this will mean a worse world situation."

In Britain, the London Times said "whatever preferences outsiders may feel between Mr. Nixon and Mr. Humphrey, everyone must be glad American democracy has made a clear-cut choice.

"The machine, for all its 18th century design, has worked again, notwithstanding strains unprecedented in modern times . . ."

"So it is to President Nixon," said the London Daily Telegraph. "The man who had acquired the reputation of a loser had finally made it."

"The images many will find rising to their minds of him are not particularly happy ones: chasing Alger Hiss, the cocker spaniel Checkers, being stoned in Caracas and stuck in a lift in Mexico City, losing in California and losing against Kennedy. But all that is now behind."

Former Foreign Minister George Brown of Britain said Nixon's coming may mean a more isolationist foreign policy.

Nationalist Chinese officials were jubilant since President Chiang Kai-shek's government considers Nixon a staunch anti-communist.

Greece, the native country of Spiro T. Agnew's parents, was enthusiastic and proud.

Church bells sounded in Gargalianoi, the Pelopenesian town where Agnew's father was born 90 years ago.

"We will have music, dance, fireworks," said Mayor Nicolas Kostopolulos of Gargalinaoi.

Wallace to Resume His Law Practice

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —George C. Wallace plans to re-enter the practice of law in Alabama, but indicates he may be back running for president again in 1972 if national trends don't suit him.

The defeated third party candidate, appearing relaxed and in good humor, told a news conference Wednesday he considered his efforts a success despite the fact he carried only five states, all in the South.

"I think we were a bellweather for the two national parties," Wallace said. "The winner of the presidential campaign said almost the same things we did. I dare say had this movement not been in existence this would not have been the case."

He said President-elect Richard Nixon had recently taken stands similar to his on the subjects of law and order, schools and the Supreme Court.

Whether he runs again in 1972 will depend on governmental trends, Wallace said.

"Events that transpire between now and 1972 will determine it," he said. "I sincerely hope the problems we have been talking about will be solved, but we'll have to see about that."

Retired Gen. Curtis LeMay, Wallace's running mate, also addressed the news conference briefly and echoed the theme the campaign had achieved its primary objectives even though it did not win the election.

"I think I'm the happiest man in the world, or at least in this room," LeMay said. "I suppose it might have been a little frosting on the cake if the election had wound up in a tie and we could have had a little more influence on the problem, but that's probably a selfish thought.

"I think its probably better for the country that Mr. Nixon did win outright in his own regard."

Wallace discounted rumors that he might run for governor or senator in 1970 to establish a "power base' from which to make another presidential bid in 1972.

"I have no plans whatsoever to run for political office in this state," said Wallace, who piled up 66 per cent of the vote in easily carrying Alabama Tuesday.

Returns Accurate Despite Computer Flaw

NEW YORK (UPI) — The News Election Service (NES) ran a county-by-county check Wednesday in every state to verify the accuracy of computerized election returns after a flaw developed in the system Tuesday night.

NES was organized as a data collection communication pool by United Press International, Associated Press, and the three major television-radio networks to speed uniform, accurate election returns. The tabulation was delayed for 20 minutes when the primary computer was shut down and a slower standby system was substituted.

"We have never found out what was the flaw in the program that produced erroneous precinct information, then began showing up in odd features in some of the races," said an NES official. "There may have been some human error involved in some of the regional centers."

The decision to shut down the primary computer and "de-bug" it was made at 1 a.m. EST, the entire vote tabulation operation was shifted to a backup system which was slower then the original system.

J. R. Eimers, executive director of NES, indicated that although there were some breakdowns in production of information on the county and state levels, the overall totals for the presidential candidates were correct.

"We resorted to an emergency tabulation system using totals produced independently in our seven regional centers," Eimers said. "We have no reason to believe that the national totals for president we produced up to the time we abandoned that system were wrong. The emergency system has corroborated those totals."

THE TYING FIELD GOAL

Chest Game Raises $2,200

More than $2,200—with some money still to be collected—is the final amount realized for Ulster County Community Chest as a result of the recent "political football game" on October 19.

Making the announcement was Don MacIsaac, chairman of the event, who stated that he was "quite satisfied at the returns, considering the 'downpour' that we had on that date." MacIsaac stated that "We had a fine turnout in the Kate Walton Field House where we were forced to go as a result of the weather. Had we not gone there, we would not have made the money we did and the people attending would not have seen truly one of the most exciting football games ever seen in the area. I think everyone was surprised and pleasantly so, at the calibre of play and players. We had our laughs, too, but the game itself was very competitive. Had the weather been good, I think we could have doubled our attendance at the Stadium but that's wishful thinking. The Ulster County Community Chest has very little influence with the weather."

MacIsaac acknowledged the work done by those with whom he worked to make the game possible, citing specifically: Pete Barrecchia, promotion and publicity; John Breithaupt, arrangements; Chil Caruso, football game; Harry Castiglione, music; Judy Kamen, tickets; Ernie Ward, stage show. MacIsaac said, "They worked hard and long and frequently under frustrating conditions to assure that both teams were available for play on October 19. Bringing two political parties together to play football around election time and getting them to agree to common groundrules is not the easiest of tasks, yet they did it. Also, much credit must go to the politicians who played and helped us because without their cooperation prior to and during the event, we would not have succeeded."

William Pearson, general drive chairman for the Ulster County Community Chest Campaign, in commenting on the game, stated that he was extremely pleased at the results.

"This represents $2,200 we didn't have if the game were not played and I think all those who participated did a great job in bringing to Ulster County a very unusual and exciting program which may well be repeated in the future. On behalf of Chest, I convey my gratitude and appreciation to all those who were involved."

Education Week Slated for RV

Parents and friends of Rondout Valley Central Schools will visit district schools during American Education Week when each school will hold open house.

The Rosendale and Accord School Open Houses were scheduled for this week, last night and tonight, respectively.

Tuesday the Middle School program will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a general session in the school cafeteria, during which the staff will be introduced. Parents will then have an opportunity to follow their children's daily programs, with 15-minute class periods scheduled from 7:45 to 10 p.m. During "lunch period" refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

Open house at the Kerhonkson School will be conducted during the regular school day on Wednesday. Parents may visit their children's classes and observe their daily school routine.

The students and teachers of Rondout Valley High School have invited parents and friends of the school district to visit their school Wednesday evening.

The program will emphasize the many phases of student activities offered at Rondout Valley High School. Students as well as faculty members will be on hand demonstrating various departmental programs and answering questions.

The evening will begin with a brief general meeting in the auditorium, at which time Keith Gorham, Student Council President, will welcome the public and review the program. Immediately following the opening session, the seniors will present a preview of their upcoming play, West Side Story.

After this dramatic presentation, various departments in the school will present activities stressing the participating role of the student in the educational process.

The Marbletown School open house will conclude AEW observance in the Rondout Valley district. The program will begin at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 14. Teachers will be in their classrooms to talk with parents and exhibits of student work will be on display throughout the school.

American Education Week 1968, Nov. 10 through 16, has as its general theme America Has a Good Thing Going—Its Schools.

The parade will proceed up Broadway to Dietz Stadium with five divisions, each accompanied by a military band. Each division will include several posts, honoring their individual 50-year members. UNICEF Official Visits Old Friends, Gives Views on Biafra's Sorry Plight

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF may have gone its way for another year as far as area youngsters are concerned, but for a recent visitor to Kingston the results are a year-around reality.

Dr. Charles Egger, executive director of international operation for UNICEF, was in Kingston over the weekend to visit former neighbors from New Delhi, India.

The UNICEF official who spent the summer in Europe arranging aid for the Biafrans came to Ulster County for a brief visit with the Rev. William A. Studwell, pastor of Clinton Avenue Methodist. The Eggers and the Studwells were neighbors on a fascinatingly cosmopolitan street in India when the Rev. Mr. Studwell served the Union Church in New Delhi and Dr. Egger was in charge of UNICEF operations in that section of the world.

The weekend sojourn provided a respite from New York-based UNICEF duties. Mrs. Egger and one of their four children accompanied Dr. Egger.

First Overseas

Fittingly, the Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Studwell were responsible for the first overseas Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF while in India. They introduced the custom in the American community of New Delhi, and although there was some confusion when ghosts and goblins got mixed up with Hindu masquerade holidays it proved so successful that other American communities in foreign lands have since adopted the practice.

While here Dr. and Mrs. Egger joined the Studwells for a Sunday afternoon hike at Mohonk including a trip through the Lemon Squeeze. The walk, although at much lower altitude, was reminiscent of outings to the Kashmirs which the two families shared while neighbors. Dr. Egger, who is Swiss, particularly enjoyed the rocky walk.

Dr. Egger spent the summer attempting to get aid to the beleaguered Biafrans. Although he could not get through to the tiny holdout section of Nigeria, he did carry on negotiations with neighboring countries as well as extensive talks in Geneva, Switzerland.

Some progress is being made in getting relief supplies to the Biafrans. UNICEF aid is being airlifted to the isolated sector through cooperation with the Red Cross.

Nigerian authorities will not permit emergency supplies to go in by land routes as they do not trust anyone not to smuggle in arms. However, the air supply routes remained open without interference during the past month or so which Dr. Egger considers a hopeful sign.

Dr. Egger has been with UNICEF for 20 years serving posts in Paris and East Africa in addition to his sojourn in India.

When the Eggers and the Studwells were neighbors in New Delhi, other residents on the truly international street where they lived included an emissary of the Delhi Lama who had charge of dispatching Tibetians to areas of relocation. Some of those who passed through New Delhi are resettled in Switzerland, Dr. Egger's native country.

And in the "small world department," Dr. and Mrs. Egger recently attended a reception in New York City, spotted a Tibetian delegation and on introduction discovered one of the members was the brother of their neighbor in India.

American Lunch

Daniel, the most Americanized of the Egger children accompanied his parents to Kingston to renew his friendship with the Studwell youngsters. A special treat enjoyed by the whole family for the very first time in this city was the traditional U.S. custom of lunch at a drive-in hamburger shop.

Daniel with Ian and Philip attend school in New York at the present time while their older sister Francine is a freshman at Occidental College in California. With her family living in New York City for the time being, she had hoped to be accepted at Vassar College in Poughkeepsie. However, though an interpreter with a command of three languages, her English was not good enough for her to matriculate here.

The Studwells are hopeful of many return visits from the Egger family while they are here. Although Dr. Egger is hard pressed with UNICEF affairs in the current world situation, Mrs. Egger and the children plan to come up from New York whenever they can.

Five Divisions Set For Sunday Lineup

Ulster County American Legion will observe the 50th anniversary of the national organization and honor its 50 year members with a Veterans Day parade Sunday in Kingston.

The five-division parade will step off at 2 p.m. from the rear of Kingston High School following Veterans Day ceremonies at 1:30 p.m. at the rear of the school. The parade will proceed up Broadway to Dietz Memorial Stadium, according to William T. Boice, parade chairman, and county vice commander.

Kingston Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan will be the principal speaker. Also speaking on the program will be Hudson Valley County VFW Council Commander Earl Paul of Shokan and County Legion Commander Vincent J. DeStasio of New Paltz.

Also participating will be the Rev. John G. Russell of Holy Name Church, Post 150 chaplain, the Rev. Wallace R. Randell of Stone Ridge Methodist Church and County Chaplain George Bragg.

The line of march will be headed by the County Legion officers and Auxiliary officers, the 50 year members and Gold Star Mothers.

The first division will include Rosendale - Tillson Post 1219 members; Rose-Sheeley Post 1034, and Woodstock Post 1026.

The second division includes Kingston Post 150; VFW Posts, Kingston Paid Firemen and volunteer firemen; the Moose Club, Young Marines of Ulster Detachment, Girl and Boy Scouts.

The third division includes Lloyd Post 193, Olive Memorial Post 1627 and Town of Ulster Post 1748.

The fourth division includes Town of Marbletown Post 1512, Cook-Taylor Post 111, and Sullivan-Shafer Post 176.

The fifth division includes Lamouree - Hackett Post 72; Vieby-Sutton Post 124; Town of Esopus Post 1298, and Phoenicia Post 950.

Ford to Head Salvation Army Holiday Appeal

Edwin Ford of Ford's Printing Service, has been appointed chairman of the Salvation Army's annual Christmas program again this year. The Christmas "Kettle" Program will open on Nov. 29 and continue through Christmas Eve.

Thomas Reynolds Jr., advisory board chairman, announced the appointment and listed the following as members of Ford's committee: Mrs. Dale Auchmoody, Mrs. Edward DeWitt, Boyd Miller, Edward Minasian, James Murphy, Mrs. Arthur Oudemool, LeRoy Singleton and William Stopher.

Ford is looking forward to re-acquainting all the residents of Kingston and Ulster County with the great diversity of the Salvation Army's program to bring a share of Christmas joy to our less fortunate neighbors. In the coming weeks, Ford said that he will be announcing the various out-reach activities that the Salvation Army engages in during the Christmas season. "Our hope," he said, "is to be of more and better service than ever before, so that everyone may enjoy the holidays."

D & H Canal History, Future in Magazine

Local history and preservation moves are highlighted in the October-November issue of The Conservationist magazine issued by the New York State Conservation Department.

The four-page article, co-authored by Donald G. Ross, president of the D&H Canal Historical Society, and Lee DeNike of Williamsville, details the route of the famous old canal over its entire length from Honesdale, Pa. to Rondout with special emphasis on its remains in Ulster County.

The beautifully illustrated presentation is titled Shawangunks to the Catskills. It reviews the colorful history of the great waterway which was created through engineering genius and the industry which sprang up along its banks.

Local efforts for preservation and restoration of the canal which has fallen into gross neglect since its demise as an economic lifeline are outlined by the authors. In Orange County, Community of Museums and Galleries is endeavoring to save and restore a two-mile section at Cuddebackville while the D&H Canal Historical Society is making efforts to save remnants in Ulster County as parks and nature trails.

LBJ Resolution To Get UN Approval

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for an international Decade of Ocean Development is expected to get unanimous approval in the U.N. General Assembly's main political committee.

A resolution sponsored by the United States and 18 other nations welcomes Johnson's proposal last March to begin a 10-year program in 1970 to promote the peaceful uses of the ocean floor.

The resolution calls on U.N. members to propose scientific programs for the decade, urges them to publish the results of their findings during that period and asks the International Oceanographic Commission to coordinate the efforts.

The 125-nation committee is also expected today to approve two other resolutions dealing with the sea bed.

One sponsored by Malta, Mauritius and Tanzania endorses the principles that no nation may claim the sea bed, that it should be developed in the interests of all and that it should be exploited for peaceful purposes only.

Another, introduced by the United States, the Soviet Union and 28 other nations, calls on all nations to take measures to minimize pollution of the oceans from seabed mining and drilling.

Gunnar G. Schram of Iceland urged that some sort of machinery be set up to determine responsibility in sea bed exploration.

"A case of pollution can present a grave threat to countries far from the source," Schram told the committee.

A year's study of the sea bed carried out under U.N. auspices, has noted that huge resources in oil, gas, manganese and phosphate exist on or under the ocean floor. The survey pointed out, however, that knowledge of these resources is limited and it will be at least 10 years before they are tapped unless there are unforeseen technological developments.

Hamilton S. Amerasinghe of Ceylon, who directed the survey, told the committee that his group is studying ways to outlaw use of the ocean floor for war purposes. He said a treaty must be worked out to reserve the sea bed for peaceful uses or mankind will face the threat of nuclear war being waged from the bottom of the ocean.

Regents Head Calls Parley On N.Y. Strike

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)— The head of the State Board of Regents called a special meeting today among the board members and state legislators to seek ways to end New York's crippling teachers' strike.

James E. Allen Jr., state education commissioner, was to attend the meeting, called by Chancellor Joseph W. McGovern at the behest of state legislative leaders.

Three strikes by the United Federation of Teachers (UFT) have kept nearly 1.12 million pupils and 60,000 teachers out of classes for all but 11 days since the fall term began Sept. 9.

McGovern called the meeting Wednesday in the wake of the city board of education's rejection of a plan by its former president to end the strike by closing the largely Negro and Puerto Rican school which triggered the strike.

The board voted 8-2 to reject the proposal by former school board president Mrs. Rose Shapiro to close junior school 271 in the Ocean Hill - Brownsville district of Brooklyn, one of three districts in the city where school "decentralization" is on trial and the focal point of the current dispute.

During the business meeting suggestions were discussed for a club money-making project. It is hoped that a candy sale can be undertaken. Following the program games and refreshments were enjoyed by the members and their guests.

It was announced the SEEC group will be the guests of Kingston Lions Club at the annual dinner for area blind on Nov. 26.

George Banks, club president, extends a cordial invitation to interested persons to join SEEC, a local organization providing social, educational, economic and cultural advantages for the blind, visually handicapped and their sighted friends.

"We intend to adjust our approach," the chief executive officer stated, "to a housing market that nationally is demanding quality homes, quickly built. It is our intention to market these products through our national retail outlets. Probe Break-in Of Saugerties Furniture Mart

State and village police today continued investigation of a break-in at the Saugerties Furniture Mart at 222 Main Street, Saugerties, which involved the rifling of an office safe and desks.

BCI Investigator John Salters and Police Chief Gordon Keeley conducted an investigation of the burglary after it was discovered and reported by Robert Shapiro, proprietor of the furniture store. The entry was made sometime between 5:50 p. m. Tuesday when the mart was closed and 8:15 a. m. yesterday.

The store was entered through a side door that had been forced open. Indications were that a hydraulic tool had been used to open the safe from which numerous articles including a stamp and coin collection, irreplaceable items, and other articles were taken.

Contents of a desk were strewn over the floor by the intruders, who also took an undetermined amount of cash that had been in the locked safe, it was learned.

19 Drug Firms Brought to Court By Heart Patient

PHILADELPHIA (U.P.I.) — Richard J. Cusick, a Cleveland heart patient, brought a treble damage suit in U.S. District Court here Wednesday against 19 drug firms on price fixing charges.

Cusick filed the suit in behalf of 250,000 heart patients in this country, naming as defendants an international group of firms indicted by a federal grand jury in New York Oct. 25.

Cusick said the firms controlled the manufacture and distribution of quinine and its synthetic equivalent, quinidrine, in order to set artificial prices.

Cusck charged because of the firms' control of quinine production outside the United States, and because price cutting eliminated competition within the country, the market was "restrained and suppressed."

He said the 250,000 heart patients throughout the country who must use the drug daily have been "injured in the amount of millions of dollars."

Cusick asked "three fold the amount of damages determined," in addition to costs and attorneys fees.

U.S. firms named in the suit were Rexall Drug and Chemical Co., Los Angeles; Mead, Johnson & Co., Evansville, Ind.; and Bristol Myers Corp. of New York. Sixteen Dutch, West German and British firms were named co-defendants.

The eyes of Texas and those of several million visitors are on ingratiating Hemisfair as it celebrates a 250-year anniversary of San Antonio and Texas history. The Hemisfair is part of that effort to present a new image of the new Texas to the world. Among the major sights of San Antonio is of course, the Alamo. The Hemisfair is a tremendous boost to San Antonio and will continue to provide fringe benefits. The city is the 15th city in size in America, and is not really one of the big towns. Hemisfair is not one of the big fairs, either, but it's quite exciting just the same!

San Antonio's Hemisfair is only one of the many spectacular sights to visit in these Scenic United States. Sweet Adelines' Song Day

October 23 was designed as "Dedicate A Song Day" by Sweet Adelines, Inc., an international organization of women who are dedicated to the art of singing, teaching, and enjoying four-part barbershop harmony. The event was held in conjunction with the dedication of the organization's newly constructed Headquarters Office Building in Tulsa, Oklahoma. The building was dedicated to "All the American Music in the World."

In celebration of the day, about 500 Sweet Adeline choruses and 750 quartets in the United States, Canada and the Panama Canal Zone shared their renditions of favorite songs with audiences at hospitals, homes for the aged, civic assemblies and charity benefits. The Colonial City Chapter performed for the Community Chest's Political Football Game the preceeding week. This was in keeping with the public service aspect of the organization, which strives to provide wholesome and meaningful entertainment for civic groups, especially the underprivileged and infirm.

Sweet Adelines International Convention and quartet competition was held in Oklahoma City from October 24-27. More than 2,000 members attended the convention which culminated when the winners of the close competition were crowned "Queens of Harmony" for the year. Last year's winners were the "Hurricane Honeys" from Miami, Fla.

Although Sweet Adelines, Inc. is formed by women from all walks of life; housewives, secretaries, professional women, they share a common desire to sing and to promote harmony among the women. Each chorus and quartet provides its own colorful costumes and receives professional assistance in achieving a high degree of skill in producing the memorable harmonies so distinctive to four-part barbershop harmony. Many Sweet Adeline quartets have achieved national prominence in the musical world.

DAR Conference Reports Given

Reports of the recent New York State Conference, Daughters of the American Revolution, held October 2-4 at the Lake Placid Club, Essex County, formed the program of Wiltwyck Chapter at its November 4 meeting Monday evening at the Chapter House, Mrs. Floyd N. Ellsworth regent, conducting.

Delegate Mrs. Adam H. Porter, member of the State Resolutions committee, mentioned that the State Conservation Council had approved a proposed dam on the upper Hudson River to supply the greater New York City area with water which would result in irreparable loss of untouched wild beauty and the obliteration of the village of Newcomb. The DAR strongly urged the State Legislature to sponsor a statute and Constitutional Amendment which would remove from further consideration for water impoundment the upper Hudson River.

Mrs. Gertrude B. Kerth of Woodstock was honored at the State Conference as a 50-year member, and the name of Mrs. J. Baker Burroughs past regent, Wiltwyck Chapter, was included in the Memorial Service for departed members.

Mrs. Cloyd Elias reported on American Indians Committee and Mrs. Eugene Hoffman accepted contributions for scholarship and other work on that committee.

Miss Martha Freer for National Defense portrayed the turbulent condition presently existing in the Panama Canal Zone, and Miss Isabel Herdman described her attendance at the State Regent's Council.

Miss Jacqueline Post, personal page to the State Regent, Mrs. James E. Clyde, announced that she has been invited to attend Mrs. Clyde at the DAR Continental Congress, Washington, D.C. in April 1969.

Resolutions upon the deaths of Mrs. Ashton H. Hart and Miss Alberta Bull were read by Mrs. Arthur C. Hazenbush and a moment of silence observed in their memory.

The Year Book 1968-69, with Mrs. George Dingee, program chairman, was awarded a gold star.

Supper hostesses were the Mmes. Cloyd L. Elias, Conrad J. Gross, W. Dale Swartzmiller and Miss Alberta Davis.

Recitation of the American's Creed concluded the meeting.

Performing Arts Ticket Sales Open

The Saratoga Performing Arts Center is announcing its annual season ticket and subscription ticket program this Thursday, Nov. 7, in time to solve the gift-giving problems of the area's holiday shoppers. Announcement of the many different package programs available will be made at "kick off" meetings, Thursday, in the main rehearsal hall at the Performing Arts Center's amphitheater.

Arthur Leonard, chairman of the Center's Advisory Council, and members of the Center's administration, will meet with Saratoga Advisory Council members and the Women's Advisory members to outline the package programs available for the 1969 Saratoga Festival. Volunteer workers, under the leadership of local Advisory Committees, will then begin promotion campaigns in their various communities.

Ticket packages at major discounts include season tickets, weekly series, ballet series, orchestra series, and a "sampler" series offering two ballet, two orchestra and two special event performances. For the first time, books of ten coupons in all price categories, will be offered at a discount.

These books are suggested for gifts, business promotion, or for personal use to obtain the discount offered. Gift certificates are again available in any amount. Shoppers who wish to take advantage of these offers are instructed to send a check or money order in the desired sum, along with the name and address of the recipient, to the Performing Arts Center. The Center will send gift certificates to the receiver with an attractive card, stating the name of the giver. These certificates may be exchanged by mail, or at the box office, which will open in mid July. No minimum purchase is required.

Brochures describing the various ticket packages in detail and giving full information concerning the 1969 ticket prices and package program savings are available and will be mailed to the Center's past subscribers following the "kick off" meetings. Those interested in detailed information, or membership in their area Advisory Committee, should contact the Saratoga Performing Arts Center, Saratoga Springs, New York, 12866.

Knicks Blow Another One, Bullets Win Fifth

THE BIG "O" — Cincinnati Royal guard Oscar Robertson, "the Big O", sweeps the ball away from Bob Boozer of the Chicago Bulls in first half action Wednesday night. Erwin Mueller had attempted the shot with the Bulls trailing 71-50, and Robertson made sure they didn't get another chance. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

(Combined Wire Services)

Jeff Mullins' driving bank shot with three seconds left to play lifted the San Francisco Warriors to a come-from-behind 94-93 National Basketball Association victory over the New York Knicks Wednesday night.

In other action Baltimore scored a rousing 140-119 victory over Atlanta, Detroit broke away from Seattle, 127-118, Cincinnati slammed Chicago 133-122 and Los Angeles bounced Milwaukee 128-115.

The Warriors, now 5-5, trailed throughout the second half until Rudy LaRusso hit two free throws for a 90-89 lead with 44 seconds left. New York's Willis Reed countered with two free throws to place the Knicks ahead at 0:36.

Warriors' forward Clyde Lee, who topped his team's scoring with 25 points, hit a layup to give the home team a 92-91 edge with 23 seconds remaining, but the New York's Dick Barnett hit a jump shot from the left corner with seven seconds to go for the apparent winning bucket.

The Warriors called time out, then inbounded the ball to Mullins who drove down the left side of the key and banked his desperation jumper through the hoop for the winning basket in a defense-dominated game.

The Warriors hit only four field goals in the third period, falling behind by as many as 13 points at 66-53. For the quarter, San Francisco scored only 19 points, but the Knicks fared little better with only 22.

Both teams only managed 20 points in the second period as tight defensive play forced numerous turnovers. Cazzie Russell's 18 points topped the Knicks, while LaRusso added 24 for the Warriors before fouling out.

After five years of finishing in the depths of the Eastern Division, the Bullets have suddenly become a contender, and they scored a rousing 140-119 victory Wednesday night over the Atlanta Hawks.

The triumph was the fifth in a row for the Bullets, and their ninth in 12 outings.

Second Place

Only Cincinnati's 133-122 decision over the Chicago Bulls kept the Bullets from jumping into first place as they stand only 28 percentage points behind the 7-2 Royals and remained tied with the 6-2 Boston Celtics.

The addition of rookie center Wes Unseld to complement Earl Monroe has made the difference in Baltimore. They scored 22 and 29 points, respectively, along with 24 by Kevin Loughery against the Hawks. But it was Leroy Ellis and Ray Scott who led a 49-point fourth quarter surge that moved them from a 12-point deficit in the third period to a 109-90 lead.

Ellis hit all his 15 points and Scott 10 of his 14 in the final half.

Don Ohl's 27 points led the Hawks, playing without Zelmo Beaty, who damaged the cartilage in his right knee in pregame warmups.

Carrier Leads Piper Rout, Denver in Overtime Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

As far as the Minnesota Pipers are concerned, Darel Carrier sure picked a lousy time to go on a 48-point scoring binge.

Carrier's career-tying outburst Wednesday night guided the Kentucky Colonels to a 131-112 rout of the Pipers—their first setback in five American Basketball Association games this season.

In other ABA activity, Denver nipped Indiana 109-107 in overtime, Miami whipped New Orleans 123-109 and Los Angeles defeated Dallas 123-117.

Carrier, who scored 48 points in a game with New Orleans last season, drilled in seven three-point shots from beyond the 25-foot range in powering Kentucky from a five-point halftime deficit to a 92-84 command at the end of three quarters.

Darel's showing overshadowed performances by Minnesota's three gunners—Connie Hawkins, Charles Vaughn and Charlie Williams. Hawkins had 32 points while Vaughn, who hit six straight three-point attempts, and Williams each had 26.

Denver's Wayne Hightower connected on a hook shot with 16 seconds left to send the game into overtime, and Larry Jones tallied on a driving layup and later hit a crucial free throw in the extra session, enabling the Rockets to win their first game in five starts.

Lonnie Wright led Denver with 26 points, while Indiana's Mel Daniels had 29.

Miami trailed by as much as 16 points in the third quarter before launching a rally that made the Floridians' home debut a success.

Les Hunter scored 33 points and grabbed 15 rebounds, including vital ones when Miami outscored the Bucs 23-2 at the end of the third period and start of the final session. Austin Robbins and James Jones each scored 23 for New Orleans.

Los Angeles overcame an early 21-5 deficit in handing winless Dallas its third straight setback. Steve Chubin triggered the Stars' comeback.

Chubin's basket with 37 seconds left in the third quarter put Los Angeles ahead 91-90. Ron Boone gave the Chaps the lead again but Chubin's three-point goal on a 40-footer enabled the Stars to go in front at the end of the period.

Ben Warley topped Los Angeles with 40 points and Chubin contributed 27. Charley Beasley was high for the Chaparrals with 35.

BILL ODENEAL

Odeneal Leaves on Far Eastern Tour

By DENNIS R. CARO
(Freeman Sports Staff)

NEW PALTZ — During the recent Olympic Games there was an awful lot of moaning about the United States' Basketball team, and what a shame it would have been if we lost a game, much less failed to win the gold medal in a sport we invented.

Nobody said anything about volleyball, which we also invented and at which we have never finished any better than sixth in international competition. Which is all very surprising, because more people play volleyball (or think that's what they're doing) on an organized basis in this country than any other sport.

"We don't play the rules," said Bill Odeneal, Athletic Director at State University College, New Paltz and for many years a high ranking official in the hierarchy of the United States Volleyball Association.

Bat Ball?

"We play bat ball. You get a bunch of people standing on each side of the net and they bat the ball back and forth and think they're playing volleyball.

"They don't really know what they're doing, but they get out there and have a jolly good time of it. Of course with this as a background, when it comes to international competition we get our heads kicked in."

Hold on there, Bill. We have a game invented in 1895 by William G. Morgan of Holyoke, Mass. and we don't even know the rules?

"Nope," he said. "You see people get out on the court with 20 guys on a side and a slack net. They don't know how to pass, or set the ball up, much less the more advanced techniques of rolling the ball and the bump pass."

"As a matter of fact, this is the first year we're even going so far as to use international rules in intercollegiate competition."

Today, Odeneal is making his fourth trip for the U. S. government, in the hope that he can change all this.

Six Week Trip

After spending a week with the armed service units in Hawaii, he will spend a week each with the men stationed in Okinawa, Japan, Korea, Vietnam and Thailand, meeting with instructors and teaching the latest in techniques and procedures.

He will also meet, and exchange information, with the various national groups in these countries.

Volleyball is an integral part of the armed forces recreation program, because it can be played almost anywhere. "All you really need is a level spot, the net and a ball," Odeneal said, "and you're in business."

Doing it right, however, is something that must be taught, and Odeneal, who developed three national championship teams at Florida State, has got the credentials.

A former national public relations chairman and member of the officials and rules committees of the USVA, Odeneal has co-authored five books on coaching techniques and the history of the sport that appears in the world book encyclopedia.

New Techniques

Two of the newer techniques he will be teaching in the Far East are "rolling the ball," and the "bump pass." "When a player rolls the ball off his finger tips," Odeneal said, "the action produces topspin, and it's that much harder to return. The bump pass is a relatively new innovation, designed as a defense against the spike."

The spike is the most powerful offensive weapon in volleyball, and the ball travels at speeds up to 110 miles an hour after it is struck.

"To defend against this," he said, "the player dives down under the ball and allows it to strike his forearms, producing a surface that will send the ball straight up.

"The ball comes up nice and and soft, the type of position that allows a perfect setup pass for another spike."

All early reports from the Adirondacks indicate a record deer kill this year, and some fine racks coming from the Indian Lake region.

We had a gabfest with our friend Bob Geandreau Sunday night and to date Horace Hutchins, all of 73 years old and a Big Brook native, has a 10-pointer with a 22-inch spread reclining in Springs General Store. The big buck dressed out at 186 pounds and it took a 190-yard shot with an M-1 to bring him down.

Bob Sisti, a New Yorker who has a summer home in the area, also bagged a 10-pointer, and has the 184 pounder at the same store. A bear, two bucks and three does are hanging at Geandreau's.

With only a dusting of snow so far and the cooler weather yet to come, the dyed in the wool deer hunters are in for some real action, Bob reports.

* * *

Glen Newell and Fred Weick found out they can come down Traver Hollow faster than they went up. Last week, while scouting some deer signs in that area they came face to face with a 400-pound bear. Reports have it they reached the car before Mr. Bruin.

* * *

Joe Dulin, showing his hunting buddy Jimmy Merritt how to shoot pheasants and not fill the bird with shot, shot the head off at a 60-mile-an-hour gait.

* * *

Herb "Doc" Zaccheo is rigging up a two-way radio to keep him in contact with his bird dog "Caesar."

* * *

If you didn't get too many pheasants during the state days, don't feel too bad. It took 5,232 hunters a total of 27,426 man hours to bag a total of 252 pheasants and other small game such as cottontails, grouse, squirrels, etc., at the Dutchess and Putnam Cooperative of the Conservation Department. This was a decrease over previous years and points once again, that unless more pheasants are released and made available to suitable areas, the hunters may be in for some lean years in the not too far future.

Although often criticized, gun clubs and preserve operators are responsible for the few birds that the hunter may harvest. We hate to see the day when the cagy pheasant will be as rare as a "snowball in July."

* * *

A real must for hunters and fishermen, those especially new to the area, is a fine outdoor map showing 250,000 acres of public hunting land in the Catskill mountain. It is available at nominal cost from Outdoor Publications, Box 355, Ithaca, N. Y.

* * *

Word from up Wittenberg way is that there is plenty of patroling of the club grounds in that area and to those who are looking for the "night kill", better be real careful as that venison may run mighty high per pound and those prize racks will never get to a deer pool.

* * *

William Kowalevsky, the Rifton bass champ still displaying some picture book big mouths and at present has a six-pounder ready for the taxidermist. His friends may be interested to know he has put side boards on his boat so no more jump in.

* * *

Had a nice note from a reader in the Canal zone, Panama, young Dave Stewart, who is doing an Air Force stint. He is looking forward to doing some local hunting come Nov. 10 and backing up his dad Ralph at a local pheasant preserve.

* * *

For those who were fortunate enough to see Dick Little of Endicott put on an exhibition at the Lake Katrine traps this summer, it may be noted that despite his 384x400 in the Winchester championships held in England, his team finished in fourth spot.

* * *

Many thanks to a reader who dropped us off a bottle of "cough syrup" for those cold days ahead. It will come in mighty handy come "tip-up" fishing when the winds howl and the snow blows and you need some anti-freeze in the radiator.

* * *

Jack Van Tassel, Port Ewen druggist, and a party of friends back from a deer hunt at Big Moose in the Adirondacks with two deer, a bear and a real weird story he'll have to tell to get in all the details.

OLD RIP SEZ: "Mahogany Ridge" getting all polished up for those deer stories come opening day, Nov. 18.

L.A. Blanks N.Y., Detroit Wins

SORRY ABOUT THAT, CHIEF — New York Ranger defenseman Harry Howell has spent an awful lot of time in the penalty box after plays like this, but Wednesday the referee ruled Los Angeles King forward Skip Krake tripped himself. It might have been the only thing that went right for the Rangers all night. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Detroit Red Wings used something old and something new but in the end it was Bruce MacGregor who left the Chicago Black Hawks blue.

The something old was Gordie Howe, performing for the 23rd season in the National Hockey League. The something new was young Nick Libett, a rookie center, who won't be 23 years old until next month. Both Howe and Libett scored two goals—Gordie's pair giving him 694 in regular season play.

But it was MacGregor's third-period goal that sunk the Hawks 6-5 Wednesday night.

In other NHL action, Toronto nipped Minnesota 1-0, Boston bombed Philadelphia 7-1, St. Louis dropped Pittsburgh 3-1 and Los Angeles blanked New York 2-0.

Howe, Libett and another rookie, Danny Lawson, gave Detroit a first period edge. But Erick Nesterenko hit twice and Pit Martin, Chico Maki and Jim Pappin all scored for Chicago—Pappin's third-period goal tying the game after Howe's second of the night.

Then MacGregor's first goal of the year with 5½ minutes left to play won it for the Red Wings.

Hull Has Four

Bobby Hull had four assists and took over the NHL scoring lead from Chicago teammate Stan Mikita. Hull has nine goals and 13 assists for 22 points compared to Mikita's 5-13-18.

Toronto spoiled John Muckle's debut as Minnesota coach by nipping the North Stars on a third period goal by Paul Henderson.

The fiercely forechecking Leafs protected goalie Bruce Gamble, who played the shutout in only his second start of the season. Most of Minnesota's 27 shots were harmless.

Henderson, roaming free about 20 feet in front of Minnesota goalie Cesare Maniago, whipped a waist high shot for the goal after taking a pass from Floyd Smith.

St. Louis bunched three goals in 11 minutes of the second period to beat Pittsburgh. The trio of scores came after the Penguins' Earl Ingarfield had snapped a scoreless tie in the second period.

Camille Clicks

Then Camille Henry, the West Division's leading scorer, potted his eighth goal of the year and Bill McCreary and Ab MacDonald also hit.

The Penguins managed only 20 shots at Glenn Hall while the Blues got 31 off at Les Binkley.

Phil Esposito scored twice for the Bruins who bombed ex-teammate Bernie Parent and beat Philadelphia. Parent, who made 39 saves, was brilliant during a scoreless first period but Boston broke through with three goals by Tommy Williams, Ken Hodge and rookie Wayne Cashman in the second.

Then Esposito hit twice and Gary Doak and Derek Sanderson once each in the final 20 minutes. Gary Dornhoefer, another ex-Bruin, scored the Flyers' one goal.

New York lost its first game of the season against a West Division team after seven straight victories, as rookie goalie Gerry Des Jardins of Los Angeles turned in his first NHL shutout. Des Jardins, in handling 32 shots, handed the Rangers their first whitewash in 59 games.

Ed Joyal's power play goal gave the Kings a 1-0 lead late in the first period. With 48 seconds to play, Ted Irvine scored on 50-foot shot into an empty net after New York pulled goalie Ed Giacomin in favor of an extra skater.

Arrest Two Brothers In Novarro Slaying

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Two brothers from Chicago — one of them a teenager — were arrested Wednesday and booked on suspicion of murdering former silent screen star Ramon Novarro, whose nude body was found in his posh Hollywood home Oct. 31, police said.

Officers said Paul Robert Ferguson, 22, and Thomas Scott Ferguson, 17 were being held at the North Hollywood police station.

Police Lt. G. W. Lauretzen said the brothers were arrested without a struggle in Bell Gardens — Paul at a restaurant and Thomas at the home of a friend, where he was staying.

The officer said Paul Ferguson had come to Los Angeles from Chicago about five months ago and that his brother arrived about three weeks ago.

Lauretzen said the probe into the 69-year-old Novarro's bludgeon death turned up the brothers' names "and we centered our investigation on them. After checking out the physical evidence we decided we had enough of a case to ask for indictments."

The body of Novarro was found by his male secretary in the former screen idol's $150,000 Laurel Canyon hime. Officers said Novarro's head and upper body were badly beaten and that there were signs of a fierce struggle at the house.

Better Business Bureau:

Caution on 'Free Wig' Payments

A warning has been issued by the National Better Business Bureau, Inc. to women consumers of the area to regard offers of free human hair wigs from Philadelphia "with prudence and appropriate suspicion." Residents are advised not to send money to "free wig" merchants.

The warning came after a man identified as Elliott Nathaniel Scott, representing himself as a "free wig" merchant, was convicted and sentenced in September by U.S. District Court Judge John P. Fullam in Philadelphia, to a prison term on 10 counts of mail fraud.

An undetermined number of area women, including many in Kingston, have received postal cards in the last two weeks from Philadelphia, informing them that they had won a "beautiful $89 value 100 per cent human wig" as a prize.

Postal authorities in Poughkeepsie have been notified and are investigating the recent receipt of the postal cards calling for the recipient to send monies designated on the cards to addresses in Philadelphia, supposedly to cover postal and handling charges.

Scott is currently free in $5,000 bail pending an appeal.

The Better Business Bureau of Greater Philadelphia, in reply to inquiries from Kingston residents, who received the "lucky number" cards, noted that Scott used a number of trade styles in his operations, including Charles Wig Styling Club, Phillips Social Club, C. Simpson Wig Styling Club and a dozen or more others, and six addresses.

Appraisals of wigs peddled by Scott, gave them an approximate value of less than a dollar, and the wigs received were described as "just so much junk."

Complaints about Scott's operation started rolling into the Better Business Bureau of Greater Philadelphia in 1966 and by the time of his sentencing the Post Office Department had received more than 5,500 complaints, and the BBB more than 1,000. It was estimated that Scott had collected from the public more than $300,000.

Residents who receive such postal cards with "free wig" offers, are advised to send them to the postal inspector at the Poughkeepsie Post Office.

New Paltz Grant

A state grant of $1,140.49 was made to New Paltz for operation and maintenance of approved water pollution control treatment plant for the fiscal year.

The state makes annual grants of one-third the direct cost of operating and maintaining municipal sewage treatment plants that meet the state standards.

Local Library Starts Drive For Old Books

The director of the Kingston Area Library, Richard H. Rosichan, announced that the library is conducting an appeal for old books, first editions, early magazines, and similar items for its soon-to-be-opened Rare Book Room.

Rosichan said that a gift of valuable books, once it is evaluated by an outside appraiser, can be taken as a tax deduction. Anyone who can help out is urged to call or visit.

Persons interested in the library's Great Books program are reminded to call the library at their convenience.

New York's 'Water Year' Reported Off to Good Start

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) —New York State's new "water year" is off to a good start, according to hydrologists at the Albany Office of the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS).

"In general," they report, "stream flows and ground-water levels throughout the state are normal or just slightly below normal."

The concept of a "water year" coinciding with the growing season, provides a convenient yardstick for measuring the state's surface water resources, explains USGS hydrologist Donovan B. Kelly.

It begins October 1st of one calender year when ground water and stream flow levels are generally static and at a low point and ends September 30th the following year when conditions are similar.

Following the regular calender year would necessitate beginning and ending the bookkeeping in the winter months, when water measurements are complicated by the temporary storage of water as ice and snow.

"Like any group of accountants," says Kelly, "we want to keep our 'water budget' as simple as possible."

Soviet Heart Patient Dies

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union's only heart transplant patient died 33 hours after Leningrad military surgeons performed the operation, the newspaper Red Star said today.

It said the 25-year-old woman who received a new heart Monday died from "the progressively increasing weakness of the heart" connected with changes in her liver and lungs.

Earlier Russian doctors, while claiming that the operation was performed "normally," expressed fears for her life and said their prognosis for survival was "unfavorable."

Leaf Collection Set by City BPW

The Public Works Department announces that they will be picking up leaves on Thursday and Friday, Nov. 7 and 8 in the remainder of Ward 13, Ward 7 and portions of Ward 6.

During the week of Nov. 11 through Nov. 15, the department will be picking up leaves in the remainder of Ward 6 and in Wards 8, 9, 10, and 12.

Nabbed on Warrant

Kingston police booked John Myrick, 28, of 31 Gill Street, Wednesday on a warrant charging him with failure to appear in City Court to answer a traffic summons. Edward A. Coddington, 43, of 37 Hudson Street, was summoned on charges of having no inspection sticker, unregistered motor vehicle and operating after his driver's license expired. Daniel J. Malone, 49, of RFD, Box 265-B, Ulster Park, was cited for failure to keep to the right.

Hussein Withdraws Troops, Guerrillas See a Good Sign

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The army withdrew its troops from the streets of Amman today. Palestine guerrilla sources said they interpreted this as a sign of good intentions by King Hussein's government.

Armored cars and troops remained in the streets of the capital Wednesday after the curfew was lifted, and the guerrillas said tension would remain high until the troops returned to their barracks. But the commandos emphasized they would do nothing to provoke the government.

No incidents were reported during the night, and the troops withdrew early today. Schools reopened and Amman returned to normal.

The guerrilla sources said talks would continue between guerrilla leaders and the government on prevention of future incidents.

Assemblyman's Biggest Win; Gets New Heart

HOUSTON (UPI)—New York Assemblyman Sidney Lebowitz hopes to eat his first solid food today since he awoke a winner after the election.

But unlike many politicians, the victory Lebowitz won was crucial to his life.

"I'm the one who won the election because I got a new heart," he said.

When the 50-year-old politician awoke he greeted his nurse, introduced himself and told her how happy he was to have a new heart, doctors said.

Lebowitz, represents the 31st district in Queens, but had to withdraw from running for a third term because of his health.

He received the heart of Jimmy Ricky Mulkey, 15, who was killed Monday when his motorbike collided with a tractor trailer truck on Interstate 610 near Houston.

Sullivan Gets Water Grant

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Pure Waters program grants totaling $100,000 to the Sullivan County Planning Board were announced today by Governor Rockefeller for year-long comprehensive water supply and sewerage studies.

The governor also announced a Pure Waters grant of $69,992 to the Rockland County Board of Supervisors for a similar sewerage study.

Dear Abby

He Doesn't Save a Dime

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

[© 1968 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.]

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a husband who spends more than he earns? Sam is very extravagant, and says as long as he's the one who makes the money in the family he can spend it as he sees fit. (He doesn't save a dime.)

We're behind on our payments for things he's bought on time, and since Sam has insisted on handling the checkbook we are always overdrawn.

My husband's occupation? An accountant. FED UP

DEAR FED UP: So what is new? The shoemaker's kids go barefoot, doctors neglect their own health, and lawyers get into legal jams. So why can't an accountant mishandle his own money? My advice to you is to take your books out of your husband's office before you wind up in the poor house.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 13-year-old boy and I hate school. How do I get kicked out?

SICK OF SCHOOL

DEAR SICK: School-haters need advice on how to STAY IN school, not how to get kicked out. Stay with it. You'll recover, and I promise you, you'll never regret it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for "HEARTSICK," the young wife who found some beads in the front seat of her husband's car.

Several years ago, I left my husband in a restaurant to curl up in the front seat of the car as it was very late and I was exhausted. It was pitch dark in the parking area.

I kicked off my shoes and curled up in the front seat of what turned out to be the same make and model car as ours. The next thing I knew, a strange man was shaking me awake, asking me what I was doing in his car? I was so frightened and mortified that I ran without my shoes.

I am still "heartsick" for that poor man who no doubt had to explain the presence of a pair of ladies's shoes in his car. Your advice — to give the husband a break even in the face of all that incriminating evidence — was excellent.

HEARSICK NUMBER II

* * *

"CONFIDENTIAL TO 'HUNGRY FOR LOVE' ON FRANKLIN AVENUE:" You give me not a clue as to why you are "love-starved," but if you are like most women with the same complaint, may I give you a few?

What kind of reception does YOUR man get when he comes home?

Most men drag their weary bodies home after a hard day of wrestling with bosses, customers, and competitive co-workers. No sooner do they get a foot in the door when the little woman hits them with junior's report card, or the news that Penelope needs a new dress for the prom.

During dinner, the old arguments are aired about Susie's make-up and David's hair. Also, the wash machine man was there today and said that to fix the machine would cost nearly as much as a new one, so how about it?

Then evening falls, and the bedroom is supposed to be transformed into the honeymoon suite at the Waldorf. Ha! He is tired, and she is tired of being told he's tired.

So, improve your timing, Lady. Greet your man at the door with a smile and a kiss. Shove the bills in the drawer, table those complaints, and tell the kids to keep quiet or you'll put a muzzle on 'em. If you want to be loved, set the emotional climate in your home.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By Oswald and James Jacoby

The simple way to play forcing two bids with a part score is to treat them as one-round forces. Hence, when North went to four spades, he was making a mild slam try. South was delighted to accept the invitation, even though North's two no-trump response had not been encouraging.

West's queen of clubs was allowed to hold the first trick. The suit was continued and South played low from dummy a second time. South was sure that East held the ace of clubs and wanted to keep dummy's king of clubs to exert pressure against East.

He ruffed the second club and ran off three rounds of trumps. Then he played out his ace and queen of diamonds.

When East discarded a club on the second diamond, South, who was something of a show-off, spread his hand and claimed his contract. He remarked, "It was a mighty good slam contract. If West held the club ace or if diamonds broke evenly, it would have been a laydown. As it is, there is an automatic three-suit squeeze for it.

South was right. When the defenders refused to consede, he led out his last two spades. He discarded hearts from dummy. This left North with the king and one diamond, the jack of hearts and the king of clubs. West had to come down to two hearts in order to protect his jack of diamonds, while East held onto three hearts and the ace of clubs.

Then South led a diamond to dummy's king. West had already been squeezed out of heart protection. Now East was squeezed in turn because he had to hold onto the ace of clubs and South's deuce of hearts produced the 12th trick. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

TEENAGER IMPACT

Moving Windup to Election

NEW YORK (AP)—The suspense, building inexorably over a 17-hour period, had become painful when, suddenly, it was over. Around 10:30 a.m., EST, the computers put Illinois into Nixon's column and television's greatest drama and longest program of the season came to a climax. The nation had seen its president elected, and the big show was over.

The windup was moving. First there were the closeups of a man near tears, fatigue puffing his face, gamely conceding defeat and generously congratulating his successful opponent.

The wear of Richard M. Nixon's long campaign and election-night vigil showed on his face, too, a half-hour later when he appeared before the cameras.

65 Million Viewers

By one audience poll, some 65-million Americans had watched the returns on the three major networks through Tuesday evening.

From early dawn until Illinois ballots started to come in during the morning, the most interesting—and static—statistics were 43-43-17, the percentage of popular votes rolled up by the candidates Nixon, Humphrey and Wallace.

Since the live windup of the national election had been strictly a day-time show, it was repeated at the end of the day, in the news shows and in special. NBC had an hour's resume during the dinnner hour and CBS had an hour's program at the end of its evening schedule.

Tough Act to Follow

Bob Hope, who came along on NBC Wednesday night with a special program, was following a very tough act, attempting to entertain an audience that had stayed up most of the previous night.

Hope started his usual monologue at the top of the show, a taped portion with the astronauts in Houston—some space jokes and a couple of observations about Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis's recent wedding.

Then Hope dealt with the election battle. He wisely kept his jokes on the gentle side, and observed that Nixon "from force of habit had conceded," that Alfred Hitchcock had demanded equal time to match the suspenseful ballot count down, and concluded "Now we can get the regular comedians back on the air."

It wasn't typical Hope, but it was shrewd showmanship. And, in the program that followed, his costars, astronauts Schirra, Eisele and Cunningham, were given most of the good comedy lines. What's more, they handled them neatly.

Some Compensation

GREENVILLE, Ky. (AP)—While William McClellan was visiting friends, the couple's 4-year-old son came in from the yard in a general state of disarray.

"You're a mess," his mother scolded.

"Yep," the kid agreed, "but I'm happy."

Office Cat

A lawyer became somewhat acrimonious in his cross-examination, but the little woman who was in the witness-box remained calm.

Eventually the lawyer said:

Lawyer Smith — You say you had no education, but you answered my questions smartly enough.

The defendant meekly replied:

Mrs. Jones — You don't have to be a scholar to answer silly questions.

The first thing for a young person to do after getting a job is to purchase an alarm clock, even if he had to mortgage his car to do it.

Don't be angry with him, it's not his fault that he knows more than you.

Ralph — Are you still taking a cold plunge every morning?

Robert — No, I quit doing that to save time.

Ralph — Why, a cold plunge doesn't take more than a minute or two.

Robert — I know, but I used to spend three-quarters of an hour curled up in bed hesitating.

A certain banker was being called upon by a delegation from a charitable institution. He instructed his secretary to make up some excuse for not seeing them.

Miss Jones (informed the delegate)— I'm sorry, but Mr. Smith can't see you. He has a sprained back.

Mr. Jackson (the delegate)— Well, go back and tell Mr. Smith that I didn't come here to wrestle with him, but to speak with him.

The only way to get along with women is to let them think they're having their way. And the only way to do that is to let them have it.

She was home from college for the holidays, and the old folks were having a reception in her honor. During the event she brought out some of her new gowns to show to the guests. Picking up a beautiful silk creation, she held it up before the admiring crowd.

Red Rocket Kills 3

SAIGON (UPI)—A Communist rocket slammed into a suburban Saigon hamlet, killing three Vietnamese, military spokesmen said today.

A pregnant woman and two other persons killed by the 107mm rocket blast 10 miles southeast of Saigon were the first civilians dead in Red shellings since all bombing of North Vietnam stopped.

Five other civilians suffered wounds.

The shelling Wednesday coincided with a battle on the northern coast that possibly marked the end of what military observers had been calling a month-long lull in major ground fighting.

U.S. headquarters today said 150 Americans died in action last week, the highest toll in three weeks. Another 1,214 were wounded. South Vietnamese battle deaths also rose, to 129 killed, and Communist losses were put at 1,393 dead.

Fight Near Da Nang

The northern coastal battle erupted 20 miles south of the U.S. base at Da Nang. A patrol of U.S. Marines ran into a Communist fortress and summoned tanks and jet planes to batter the stronghold.

The announcement gave no casualty figures for either side. Spokesmen said the Leathernecks and South Vietnamese troops were trying to surround the Communists.

In Tokyo, Lt. Gen. Lewis W. Walt, assistant commandant of the U.S. Marine Corps, told newsmen today the Communists had pulled back from South Vietnam's cities because of a series of military defeats.

"The enemy there is an entirely different breed of cat," said Walt, who commanded Marines in Vietnam until mid-1967. "He is not properly trained. He is not disciplined. He is not equipped to go on the battlefield."

Confident of Victory

"I am confident that we are winning the war," he said.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said the rocket into the village near Saigon was the 16th Communist shelling since the U.S. bombing halt over North Vietnamese began six days ago. The attacks have left 47 other Vietnamese civilians wounded.

Bolshevik Day:

Anti-Red Acts

By JAMES O. JACKSON

PRAGUE (UPI)—Hundreds of angry workers, students and shoppers shouting "take it down! Take it down!" today forced the removal of Soviet flags from public buildings in an anti-Russian outburst marking the observance of the Bolshevik Revolution.

The second anti-Russian outbreak in two days—demonstrators burned flags in Bratislava Wednesday night—came soon after 500 pro-Russian demonstrators surrounded Communist Party First Secretary Alexander Dubcek and screamed in his face: "Long live the Soviet Union!"

Bang Wrenches

In one of the flag incidents today workers on a construction site banged their wrenches on sheets of corrugated steel until officials hurried out and removed the Soviet Hammer and Sickle from the Ministry of Trade where it had been draped to observe the 51st anniversary of the Communist victory in Russia.

Youths chanted "take it down!" in front of the City Military Council office building and finally ripped down the Soviet flag with a long pole.

Two youths carrying small red Soviet flags in the crowd stuck them in their mouths and chewed to bits while a crowd of 500 persons roared its approval.

Police converged in large numbers on the crowd and police sirens could be heard wailing through the center of the city.

Begin in Afternoon

The workers on the railway construction site near the trade ministry began their demonstration against the occupation of Czechoslovakia in early afternoon. The earsplitting noise of their wrenches hitting steel soon drew a crowd of shoppers from nearby Wenceslas Square.

Within a few minutes the narrow street in front of the Soviet flag-draped ministry of Foreign Trade was clogged with people shouting "take it down!"

Bright Thanksgiving

Christmas lights are being installed Uptown this week and are expected to be turned on "around Thanksgiving Day," Nov. 28, a spokesman for the Uptown Businessmen's Association told The Freeman today.
